

Vidyavardhaka Sangha®

VIDYAVARDHAKA LAW COLLEGE

Sheshadri Iyer Road, Mysuru-01

IQAC

Organising

Special Lecture

On

RIGHTS AND DUTIES ARE CORRELATIVE

RESOURCE PERSON

Sri. Nagendra

Assistant Professor

JSS Law College

Mysuru

Date: 9th March 2023

Time: 10:30AM

Venue: Room No- 06

Dr. Deepu P
Principal

Prof. K. B Vasudeva
Director of Legal Studies,

Dr. R Gangadhar
Co-ordinator

ALL ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

VIDYAVARDHAKA LAW COLLEGE

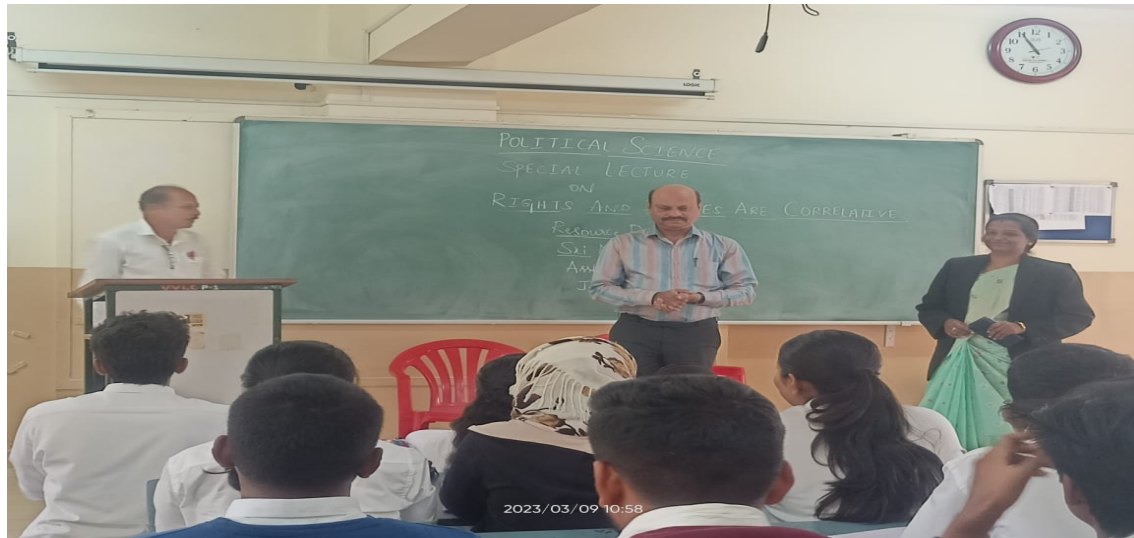

Sheshadri Iyer Road- Mysuru-01

Special Lecture report

On

RIGHTS AND DUTIES ARE CORRELATED

On 9th March 2023 at 10.30AM Special “LECTURE ON RIGHTS AND DUTIES ARE CORRELATED” was organised. Sri. Nagendra Assistant Professor, JSS Law College, Mysuru was the resource person. The resource person explained that, In India, privilege has been given to every citizen to live with liberty, but these rights are enforceable only when another person has some act which he does want to do. Also, the citizens have the duty to protect the rights of another person living in society. Therefore, duty and rights go hand in hand with each other. When there is a breach of duty from one person, there is a breach of the right of another person. Since individuals constitute society, they form the units of society. As a member (or unit) of society or the state a man must behave in a way which is good for all and which is helpful in promoting the welfare of society. Society calls upon the individuals to follow certain norms. These are obligations or duties. A duty is an obligation. As a member of society or state, the individual has to observe these obligations of society. Rights and duties are related to each other. They are the two sides of the same coins. They are the same conditions seen from different angles. The rights of one are the duties of the other and vice versa. In the absence of duties rights become insignificant and duties are fruitless in the absence of rights. If we have right to enjoy our rights, it is our cardinal duty to perform our duties. If the state guarantees the enjoyment of certain rights to us, the state, at the same time, wants us to perform certain duties also. Otherwise, we are punished. We have certain moral duties to perform and certain legal duties which we are bound to perform. Since state protects and enforces rights, it also becomes the duty of all citizens to be loyal to the state. It is their duty to obey the laws of the state and to pay taxes honestly. Citizens should always be ready to defend the state. Thus a citizen has both Rights and Duties. He enjoys rights and performs his duties. Rights and Duties are the two sides of the same coin

Our principal Dr. Deepu P in her presidential address, she emphasised that, The Fundamental Rights and Fundamental Duties provisions of the constitution specify the state's fundamental obligations to its citizens, as well as the citizen's duties and rights toward the state. Fundamental Rights are nothing more than all citizens' fundamental human rights. These are universally defined, regardless of birthplace, caste, gender, religion, or creed. Fundamental Duties, on the other hand, are all citizens' moral obligations to contribute to the promotion of patriotism and to uphold India's unity. The constitution establishes six fundamental human rights: the right to equality, freedom, and liberty from exploitation, the right to religious freedom, the right to cultural and educational freedom, and the right to constitutional protection. Simply put, the right to vote entails the obligation to vote for a candidate who, in your opinion, will bring the best out of this country. The right to live in a healthy environment is accompanied by the responsibility to keep it clean and healthy. The right to live freely is accompanied by the obligation to refrain from interfering with the lives of others. Similarly, the right to drive a vehicle entails the obligation to follow all applicable government rules and regulations. The right to utilise various government services such as transportation comes with the obligation to pay taxes under the applicable provisions.

Finally the programme ended with conveyed vote of thanks by Dr. Gangadhar R Political Science Assistant Professor, This programme witnessed by I BA., LL.B (5Yrs Course)