Welcome Speech by Principal Smt. P. Deepu

At 10.00am the inauguration Programme was started by the anchoring by our Asst.Prof Smt. MJ.Indumathi and invocation song by our student kum.Shravya and then our Principal Smt. Deepu P welcome the guest and gathering. The seminar was inaugurated by Hon'ble Justice H.P.Sandesh Judge, High Court of Karnataka, Bengaluru and other dignitaries on the dias.

Hon'ble judge High Court of Karnataka addressing the gathering

In his inaugural address Justice H.P Sandesh remembered his earlier days of law pursuance and the great personalities of our institution founders viz., K Puttaswamy (Founder Principal, VVLC) and P.M. Chikkaboraiah (Former Principal, VVLC). Justice started his core speech of bemoaned that of late the Legislative, Judicial and Executive wings of Democracy are into confrontations without realizing that constitution of the country is supreme.

He opined that each of the three wings claim supremacy which leads to confrontation. He contended that any law should be properly implemented to see results which needs the cooperation of the people. Continuing. Sandesh observed that casteism and corruption were two bad elements ruining the country and regretted that even representatives of people were selected based on caste He Quoted the saying of Swami Vivekananda” A man can achieve anything if mind,hands and heart are clean “which should be a guideline for youngsters.

Felicitation for Hon'ble justice H.P.Sandesh High Court of Karnataka Bengaluru

Chief Guest addressing the gathering by Prof.(Dr) David Ambrose Prof.and Head of the Dept of Studies in law, University of Madras, Chennai.

Chief Guest addressing the gathering by Prof.(Dr) David Ambrose Prof. and Head of the Dept. of Studies in law. University of Madras. Chennai. For decades now law and society theorists have been pre occupied with attempts to explain the relationship between legal and social change in the context of development of legal institutions. They viewed the law both as an independent and dependent and variable (cause and effect) in society and emphasized the interdependence of the law with other social systems. In its most concrete sense, social change means large numbers of people are engaging in group activities and relationship that are different from those in which they or their parents engaged in previously. Thus, social change means modifications in the way people work. Rear a family, educate their children, govern them, and seek ultimate meaning in life. In addition to law and social change there are many other mechanisms of change, such as technology, ideology, competition, conflict, political and economic factors, and structural strains.

Law as an instrument of social change. Law is the reflection of the will and wish of the society. It is said that if you want to study any society, you have to study the laws enacted by that society and you come to know whether the society is developed or wild world. The law, though it is the product of the society is responsible for the social transformations. In fact, there are two modes of this aspect. First is, "Law changing the society", which means that the law of the land compels the society to be changed according to it. And secondly is. "Society changes the law", as per its needs. It means law is made by the society according to its requirement by its democratic institution i.e. Legislative or by adopting custom and usage. When law changes the society it is the sign of beginning of the development of the society. When society changes law it is the sign of maturity of the society. We can cite the enthusiasm of the people in the matter of 'Nirbhaya' where the commonest of the common was talking on how the law must be, what must be the punishment etc. here this compelled the government to consider the sentiments of the society and set up a commission to give suggestions and untimely the criminal law amendment bill came into existence.

The change required in the society can be initiated by a single person also and this has been proved in India right from Raja Ram Mohan Roy; to Mahatma Phule, Mahatma Baseswar, and Mahatma Gandhi up to Anna Hazare! Thus the demand takes root and shakes up the government to either reform the existing laws or make new or even delete the existing unworthy laws. For this we will have to cite examples for the history of India. When mahatma Phule's wife Savitribai Phule actually started teaching in a school aimed only for girls it was considered taboo, something not good and would be affecting the society but this movement gradually became the source of law where the girls could actually study and develop. Gradually the then society thought reluctantly adopted this fact and started to send girls to school this is positive sign of beginning of the development of the society. Ultimately the girls got into colleges also. This was not only limited to the Hindu society, finally the Aligarh Muslim college also had some seats for female students studying. But no dough the lamp was lighted by the phule couple. This is the 'Society changes the law', But per its need, rather demands. Whereas the law play important role in changing the society too!

Felicitation for the chief guest Prof.(Dr) David Ambrose Prof and Head of the Dept of Studies in law, University of Madras, Chennai.

Principal District & Sessions Hon'ble Mysuru District Judge S.K.Vontigodi addressing the gathering.

Chief guest of this national seminar Principal District & Sessions Hon'ble Mysuru District Judge S.K.Vontigodi While addressing the gathering mentioned the demerits of using mobile phone due to this the importance of learning law becoming less importance.

The law is often used as an instrument of social reform. The Untouchability (Offences) Act, the Hindu Code Bill. The sarda Act, the Prohibition Act are examples in this context. Vidya Bushan and D.R. Sachdeva observed 15 that "Thus Law does not always lay behind the times. One great merit of law is that it adapts itself to the changing needs of society and maintains stability when the rapid alterations disturb the relations in society. Law helps the society assimilate the changes by adjusting group advantages and injuries resulting from them. Finally the law may become an advanced instrument of social change on a national as well as international level by affecting the social frame work in which relations take place. However, law is greatly in advance of or greatly behind the 9 trends of change in the society. It remains unenforceable,if it is in harmony with the processes of change. It accelerates and institutionalizes changes.”

The various “pressure groups” exercise considerable influence on lawmaking organs. Practically all legislations are passé to satisfy the demands of certain groups presented to the legislature directly or indirectly, which demands will be recognized in Law depends to a large degree upon the power of the groups which make the demands. Political parties themselves are a combination of pressure groups. The legal groups today are the product of the pressures of the most powerful groups in the society. By powerful groups is meant effective power in terms of the number of votes at the disposal of the group, the amount of money it can command, the effectiveness of the organization, the skill of its lobbyists, and the support it is able to secure from public opinion. Despite the directive from the Supreme Court, the Rao Government did not think it politically wise to enact a uniform Civil Code.

Seminar held on 'Law and Social transformation'

High Court Judge H.P. Sandesh addressing the gathering during the National Seminar at Vidyavardhaka Law College in city yesterday as others look on.

Mysuru, Oct.13 (PM&US)- A National Seminar on 'Law and Social Transformation in India - Issues and Challenges' was organised by Vidyavardhaka Law College in memory of P.M. Chikkabaraiah at the College premises here yesterday.

Inaugurating the programme, High Court Judge H.P. Sandesh bemoaned that of late the Legislative, Judicial and Executive wings of Democracy are into confrontations without realising that Constitution of the country is supreme.

He opined that each of the three wings claim supremacy which leads to confrontation. He contended that any law should be properly implemented to see results which needs the co-operation of the people.

Continuing, Sandesh observed that casteism and corruption were two bad elements ruining the country and regretted that even representatives of people were selected based on caste. He quoted the saying of Swami Vivekananda 'A man can achieve anything if mind, hands and heart are clean' which should be a guideline for youngsters.

Principal District and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi, Madras University HoD of Law Dr. David Ambrose, Vidyavardhaka Sangha President Gundappa Gowda, Secretary P. Vishwanath, former MLC D. Madegowda, College Principal P. Deepu, Legal Division Director K.B. Vasudeva and others were present.

Report One Day National Webinar on Decriminalization of Dishonor Cheque under Section 138 of NI Act and other Economic offences 2020- Challenges Ahead

On 19th June 2020 National Webinar on “Decriminalization of cheque under section 138 of NI Act and other economic offences 2020- Challenges Ahead” was organized. Sri S Basavaraj, Advocate, High Court of Karnataka & Member of KSBC, Bengaluru, Dr. SR Keshava, Professor, Department of Economics, University of Bangalore, Bengaluru was invited as speakers in this occasion. Smt Deepu.P, Principal introduced and welcomed the guests.

Sri S Basavaraju, addressing the participants spoke on decriminalization of cheque under Section 138 of NI Act. Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act casts criminal liability punishable with imprisonment which may extend up to two years or with a fine which may extend to twice the amount of the cheque or both. The cheque must be issued to discharge a debt or liability as a whole or in part which is legally enforceable, and it is dishonored by the bank on presentation.

Further speaking on the aspect as to why there is a need of decriminalization? He said to find a balance so that malafide intent is punished while other less serious offences are compounded, Actions taken for decriminalization of minor offences are expected to go a long way in improving ease of doing business and helping unclog the court system and prisons, and for Criminalizing, procedural lapses and minor non-compliances increases burden on businesses and it is essential that one should relook at provisions which are merely procedural in nature and do not impact national security or public interest at large.

Further he said that there are number of cases that are pending in several courts in India under Section 138 has seriously cast a shadow on the credibility of our trade, commerce and business. Due to the huge backlog of cheque bouncing cases, the trial of other important and rather more serious cases is sidelined, resulting in the litigants and the public losing faith in the judicial system. Further, its criminality has also been substantially decreased by inserting Section 147 in the Negotiable Instruments Act in 2002, making the offence punishable under Section 138 of the Act compoundable, which means that the parties on reaching a settlement can mutually agree and drop the charges against the accused. He cited cases like Dayawati vs. Yogesh Kumar Gosain, Meters and Instruments Private Limited and Ors.v. Kanchan Mehta, Kaushalya Devi Massand v. Roop kishore Khore where the courts have held that held that the offence committed under Section 138 of the Act is almost of the nature of a civil wrong which has been given criminal overtones.

Recently the Supreme Court in Makwana Mangaldas Tulsidas v. State of Gujarat &Ors opined on decriminalization of dishonor of cheques of smaller amounts. The court suggested various ways to deal with the over flooded situation of cheque bounce cases pending for adjudication across the country. The focus of the Supreme Court was to decriminalize dishonor of cheques of smaller amounts and not those of bigger amounts. One such important suggestion made by the Court was developing a mechanism for pre-litigation settlement in these cases. Such a measure of pre-litigation process can be very helpful in settling the cases before they come to Court. Following the said position, a civil court may be given jurisdiction to deal with cases relating to dishonor of cheques of small amounts. One such benefit can be that it will reduce the number of frivolous suits filed in the civil courts since the party will be having an additional burden of paying court fees for filing a plaint and unless the person is a bonafide claimant, he will have to think before approaching the Court.

In his concluding remarks he pointed out that the Central Government while decriminalizing the sections of various laws, has to look into the issue related to the interest of lawyers, welfare of the public at large and the business community. Since the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 provides for an early mode for redressal where a cheque, for discharge of debt or liability, is dishonored due to paucity of funds or where it exceeds arrangement it act as a deterrent for the borrower/ drawer of the instrument form not making timely payments of the cheques issued by them. By proposal to decriminalize Section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 along with other similar offences will dilute the said Acts.

In the second session Dr. SR Keshava, Professor, Department of Economics, University of Bangalore, Bengaluru spoke on Challenges of Economic Offences. The act of economic offences covers acts like forgery, fraud, misuse of cheque, cheating and offences against companies. The economic offence is also known as a Financial Offence. The reason why it is called a Financial Offence is that the offence is relating to money and its equivalence which in turn deals with a nation. Corruption is also a part of economic offences. Such offences affect the nation at large in various ways. Money Laundering, Uneven Distribution of Available Resources, Creation of Parallel Economy, High Inflation, No Circulation of Money, Tax Evasion, etc., all these factor either directly or indirectly affect the growth of the Economy in our Nation. Interestingly when we compare the different offences under the Economic Offence, we see a lot of similarities between them which is nothing but money and monetary related crimes. All these offences are in some way or the other linked with Money and its Equivalents. Black Money is again one of the most dangerous and vastly recognized offences not only in India but across the world. Swiss Bank holds most of the Black Money which the Offenders earn illegally. The offenders open accounts in this bank because of the privacy and anonymity which they maintain, thus making it a reliable and legal source for keeping the money. India ranks 74th in the number of clients who hold an account in Swiss Bank. In 2010 the Indian Government revised the Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement to permit investigation into matters of Swiss accounts of Indians. The Swiss Bank was not in the policy of Banking Secrecy but in the year 2011, several representations were given to Swiss Bankers Association officials by Indian officials to disclose the amount of Black Money deposited by Indian clients in Swiss Bank.

Further speaking on offenders he said Most of the offenders in this Crime introduce themselves as trustworthy agents and few other offenders use the well-established name of their or their family members. All these offenders portrayed themselves in a very competent and nullified manner and gained the trust of the people. Most of the offenders commit this offence either by introducing new Schemes in the market or making people invest in their company's Securities or Shares.

Further, speaking on the decriminalization of section 138 of NI Act he said decriminalization of Section 138 will create a sense of unease amongst creditors as it will lead to delay in payment of debt. Creditors may feel hesitant to give credit due to lack of stringent punishment on matters of cheque bounce. Though decriminalizing the minor offences may attract the foreign investors to invest in India to boost the economy, but the government will have to also see the interest of the creditors who will suffer as they will have to wait longer to recover their dues. The apprehension of criminal legal action and punishment with imprisonment and fine as provided under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881 are the factor for making timely payments of the cheques. While decriminalizing the minor offences the government will have to make sure through enactment of provisions that the interest of the creditors are secured and timely payment in terms of honoring the cheques is done to maintain the sanctity of contracts.

Instead of decriminalization of section 138 of the Act, there can be other methods which can be resorted by the government. One method can be to lay down guidelines for the banks in India to levy heavy penalty in case of a cheque bounce which is very minimal in India presently.

The programme concluded with the vote of thanks proposed by Prof K.B Vasudeva, Director of Legal Studies.

Report of the Webinar on COVID 19: Myth & Fact

Vidyavardhaka Law College and Youth Red Cross Committee, Mysuru jointly organized a one day webinar titled COVID 19: Myth & Fact on 6th August 2020.

Dr. C. Ravindranath, Associate Professor, Dept. of Microbiology, Mysore Medical College & Research Institute, Mysuru presented a keynote lecture on COVID 19: Myth & Fact. Prof.P.Deepu, Principal, Vidyavardhaka Law College, welcomed the guest and all the webinar participants. Prof.K.B.Vasudeva, Director, Vidyavardhaka Law College, will be presided over the webinar.

The key points and important insights from Dr.C. Ravindranath is mentioned below:

Myths	Facts
COVID-19 virus does not survive in sun or warm weather	There is not much research available if this virus can and survive in warmer regions of the world. In fact, the virus is already prevalent in warmer countries like India, Singapore, Australia etc.
Hand Dryers can kill coronavirus.	Hand dryers do not prevent COVID-19. Instead, washing your hands regularly using alcohol-based sanitizer or hand wash will do you good.
Eating garlic will reduce risks of coronavirus	Garlic may be healthy food loaded with loads of antimicrobial properties. However, there is no evidence that this can protect you from the virus.
Receiving a package from an infected area can leave you affected.	No, getting a parcel from an infected area does not get you infected. This is because the infection does not survive packages and products.

Taking a hot bath can kill coronavirus	Having a hot shower will not prevent you from the virus as it still has the tendency to live in hot climatic conditions. Instead, consider washing your hands frequently and this will do you good.
COVID-19 affects only older people	People of all ages are affected by a coronavirus. However, older people who are suffering from diabetes, heart disease and asthma must take extra precaution.
Gargling with salt water will prevent COVID-19	Though coronavirus is a respiratory disease, it does not mean that salt water gargling can protect you. Increase your immunity to fight the germs
An infected mother cannot breastfeed	According to the WHO, a mother can breastfeed her child and this is because breast milk provides all the protection against any illnesses and powers up the baby's immune system.
Consumption of meat, eggs, and poultry causes coronavirus	COVID-19 is a virus that spreads from human-to-human and not due to the consumption of meat, eggs or poultry.

Prof. K.B. Vasudeva, in his presidential address shared his highly commendable information gathered from many source on COVID 19: Myth & Fact.

Dr. K.L.Chandrashekhara, Coordinator, Youth Red Cross Committee, VVLC, Mysuru concluded the webinar with vote of thanks.

Report of the Webinar on Learning during COVID 19: Challenges and Remedies

Vidyavardhaka Law College and Youth Red Cross Committee, Mysuru jointly organized a one day webinar titled Learning during COVID 19: Challenges and Remedies on 13th August 2020. Sadananda R., Lecturer in English, Writer & Critic, Govt. P.U. College for Girls, Hunasuru, presented a keynote lecture on Learning during COVID 19: Challenges and Remedies. Prof. P.Deepu, Principal, Vidyavardhaka Law College, welcomed the guest and all the webinar participants. Prof.K.B.Vasudeva, Director, Vidyavardhaka Law College, will be presided over the webinar.

The key points and important insights from R. Sadananda's lecture is mentioned below:

At no time has higher education been so comprehensively impacted as it has been by the COVID-19 pandemic, demanding complex and innovative responses. The effects of the global pandemic can be found in countries, communities and on campuses everywhere, causing unique educational, economic and social challenges and deepening existing ones.

Student affairs and services, students, institutions, living and learning communities and higher education stakeholders are compelled to innovate and collaborate more effectively, especially across borders and regions, to mitigate the impact of this crisis on education, society, culture, attitudes and practices.

There are more than 50,000 tertiary colleges, universities and institutes worldwide serving 200 to 300 million students and communities. The impact of the pandemic is of epic proportions and institutions are scrambling to find ways to continue the learning and development process and doing so in a safe environment for students, academics, administrative staff and support staff.

Some institutions will not survive this crisis. Others will be forced to reinvent, retool and rethink their mission and how they deliver on their goal to educate, conduct research, and provide a meaningful service to society and advance social justice in communities and across the globe.

Practitioners and scholars of student affairs and services, or SAS, have been challenged to respond to the crisis in ways that innovate and invent new avenues, to continue to preserve efforts to meet student needs, to enhance student learning and development, and to advance social justice for all.

Many challenges

All regions share concern about how to care for students adequately and ensure their return, if possible, to a safe home. They are concerned about maintaining services if not with facemasks then remotely, and are concerned about student visas, accommodation and health care.

The concern is about COVID-19 driving students back into homes which are sometimes not safe, into communities which are not always aligned with goals of higher education. COVID-19 is also depriving some students of work study opportunities, casual and part-time work, which provide essential income to many students.

Apart from these more obvious challenges around student wellness and teaching and learning continuity, we are aware of risks that student affairs and services is focusing mainly on crisis responses, essentialising SAS to a narrow range of response services which aim to provide a service to the pragmatic aspects around learning.

The COVID-19 crisis has laid bare the inequalities in education systems. When we confidently hoped that education would be a social equaliser and a social mobility avenue, we are now staring in the face of the deep rifts between the connected and the unconnected.

But it is not only the access to internet connection that is dividing our world. We are also divided on issues of access to facilities and resources, clean water, safe homes and adequate health care. We are divided on issues of institutional autonomy and regulatory bodies, on political control of our institutions and funding formulas, and institutional and student readiness for innovation.

COVID-19 has increased fear: fear of contagion, which has led to a contagion of fear. Fear of each other. A fear that we may not be able to mitigate with online chats, webinars or learning platforms, a fear that we may not be able to address when students hunch over their keyboards. When studying at higher education institutions is reduced to mastering content, then the overall aims of higher education are missed.

When engaging with tertiary education, students should develop a consciousness of their role as agents in social justice, leadership awareness and competencies, critical thinking and acting, and an appreciation for inclusion, diversity and pluralism.

The assertion is not that this cannot be developed elsewhere, but that many opportunities of student development are missed when the university experience and teaching and learning are reduced to an online engagement.

These are the real challenges for SAS – how do we advance these graduate attributes and competencies when online learning of modularised learning units becomes the norm? How do we utilise the COVID-19 crisis as a student, staff and institutional learning experience?

This has become the challenge for the post-COVID-19 world: how do we ensure students become agents of social justice, develop a sense of belonging and empowerment to be part of knowledge creation, and ultimately develop the kind of attributes that equip them to shape the world into a shared place where fear of the other is replaced by care for each other.

Prof. K.B. Vasudeva, in his presidential address shared his highly commendable knowledge relating to the educational crisis affected due to Covid 19.

Dr. K.L.Chandrashekhara, Coordinator, Youth Red Cross Committee, VVLC, Mysuru concluded the webinar through his vote of thanks.

Webinar Report on “An Overview of IPR”

On 23rd September 2020 webinar on ‘An overview of Intellectual Property Rights’ was organized. There were 170 participants registered for the webinar and over 135 participated in this webinar. The programme began with the welcome note proposed by Smt Deepu.P, Principal.

Dr. M.N Bheemesh, Senior Advocate at ALMT Legal, Advocate & Solicitor, Bengaluru speaking in this occasion highlighted the meaning and importance of IP he said, Intellectual property (IP) is a term referring to a brand, invention, design or other kind of creation, which a person or business has legal rights over. Almost all businesses own some form of IP, which could be a business asset. Common types of IP include: Copyright – this protects written or published works such as books, songs, films, web content and artistic works; Patents – this protects commercial inventions, for example, a new business product or process; Designs – this protects designs, such as drawings or computer models; Trademarks – this protects signs, symbols, logos, words or sounds that distinguish your products and services from those of your competitors. IP can be either registered or unregistered.

With unregistered IP, one can automatically have legal rights over his creation. Unregistered forms of IP include copyright, unregistered design rights, common law trademarks and database rights, confidential information and trade secrets. With registered IP, one will have to apply to an authority, such as the Intellectual Property Office in the UK, to have your rights recognized. If they do not do this, others are free to exploit the creations. Registered forms of IP include patents, registered trademarks and registered design rights. Copyright is also registerable.

Further speaking on International considerations he said, India has been a World Trade Organization (WTO) member since 1995. WTO member nations must include some IP protection in their national laws. This means that if you are doing business with India, you will find some similarity between local IP law and enforcement procedures, and those in force in the UK. Under the Paris Convention, any person from a signatory state can apply for a patent or trade mark in any other signatory state, and will be given the same enforcement rights and status as a national of that country would be; Under the Berne Convention, each member state recognizes the copyright of authors from other member states in the same way as the copyright of its own nationals; Under the Madrid Protocol, a person can file a single trade mark application at their national office that will provide protection in multiple countries; Under the Patent Cooperation Treaty, a central system for obtaining a 'bundle' of national patent applications in different jurisdictions through a single application. India is not a signatory to the Hague Agreement, which allows the protection of designs in multiple countries through a single filing.

Speaking on registering and enforcing IPR in India, he said to enjoy most types of intellectual property (IP) rights in India, you should register them. For patents, individual registrations must be made in India, but for rights other than industrial designs one can apply under the terms of the Patent Cooperation Treaty, which is usually easier and quicker. For trademarks, one should register them within India, either through the domestic trade mark system or under the Madrid system. For copyright, no registration is required but registering copyrights with the copyright authorities is advisable. 'Priority rights' under the Paris Convention can help in the local registration of trade marks, designs and patents by allowing rights previously registered elsewhere to become effective in India, if filed within a time limit. These IP rights can be enforced by bringing actions to the civil courts or through criminal prosecution. India's IP laws set out procedures for both civil and criminal proceedings, as does the Competition Act. Criminal proceedings do not apply to patent and design infringements. A disadvantage of civil litigation is that you are unlikely to recover large damages, and punitive damages against an infringer are rare. However, if you have an identified infringer, it may be advisable to launch civil litigation, because if an interim injunction is granted the infringement can be halted pending the outcome of the case. Damages are routinely awarded in cases of copyright piracy and trade mark infringement; less so in patent cases. Over the years, however, decisions in favour of foreign companies against local infringers have demonstrated the judiciary's impartial approach. As in other countries, the Indian Government brings actions in criminal cases, although in most cases actions follow complaints to magistrates or police authorities by rights owners. Criminal proceedings against infringers carry the prospect of much harsher remedies, including fines and imprisonment. Mediation or negotiation with an infringer can also be effective as an alternative form of dispute resolution. The Civil Procedure Code provides for a formal mediation process. Concluding his address he said although Indian IP law is thorough and generally comparable with European IP laws, there are still significant concerns over IP enforcement. A major cause for concern in enforcement is bureaucratic delay, with a backlog of cases at both the civil and criminal courts. This means that cases can run for five years or more. There is also a lack of transparency, particularly at a local level. A significant feature of the IP environment in India is the large number of small players infringing IP rights. This means that seizures tend to be small, which requires a sustained and financially draining effort in order to make an impact. An advantage for UK businesses operating in India is that the legal system is based on common law, as in the UK, so the fundamental processes are familiar.

The webinar concluded with the vote of thanks proposed by Sri Shivakumara H.S.

REPORT OF NATIONAL WEBINAR ON ANTI DEFECTION LAW IN INDIA-NEED FOR REVIEW

Webinar on “Anti Defection Law in India-Need for Review” was organized on 30th September 2020 at 10:30 am. Prof. Deep, Principal, delivered well come speech. Resource Person of this webinar Dr. Sanjeeve Gowda, Assistant Professor, V.V.Pura Law College, Bengaluru, addressing the participants said that the anti-defection law in India, technically the Tenth Schedule to the Indian Constitution, was enacted to address the perceived problem of instability caused by democratically elected legislators in India's Parliamentary System of Government shifting allegiance from the parties they supported at the time of election, or disobeying their parties' decisions at critical times such as during voting on an important resolution. Such shifting of allegiance was considered to be a symptom of endemic political corruption, which in turn provided some legitimization for corruption prevalent in other aspects of life in the country. Defection by legislators occurs in many democracies. It can be argued that they can undermine the stability of the government, which is dependent on the support of the majority party's own elected legislators and/or a coalition of those elected to represent other parties. The argument follows that such instability can amount to a betrayal of the people's mandate as voiced at the most recent prior election. Prior to the introduction of the anti-defection law, both the central Government of India and the governments of some of its states and territories had experienced instances of perceived instability resulting from legislators changing their political allegiance.

Initially, the Constitution of India did not have any mention about the political parties. But, gradually when the multi-party system evolved, there had have been defections in the Indian Parliamentary System where there have been shift of people from one political party to another which resulted in breaking down of public confidence in a democratic form of Government. Defection is “desertion by one member of the party of his loyalty towards his political party” or basically it means “When an elected representative joins another party without resigning his present party for benefits”. The 52nd Amendment Act, 1985 lead to amendment in Article 101, 102, 190 and 191 of the Constitution to provide the grounds for vacation of seats for the disqualification of the members ; and also inserted Tenth Schedule.

Speaking on the loopholes in the law he said, as per Rule 6 of the schedule, the Speaker of the House or the Chairman has been given wide and absolute powers to decide the case related to disqualification of the members on the grounds of defection. The Speaker still remains as the member of the party which had nominated him/her for the post of speaker. One of the major criticisms of this power is that not necessary the speaker has legal knowledge and expertise to look upon and perform such acts in such cases. Further, as per the Rule 7, which bars the jurisdiction of the courts in any matter connected with disqualification of a member of a House, which states that it is outside the jurisdiction of all courts including the Supreme Court under Article 136 and High Courts under Article 226 and 227 of the Constitution to review the decisions made by the Speaker in this regard. The rule barring the jurisdiction of Courts has been challenged multiple times before the courts and the Court, in Kihoto Hollohon v. Zachilhu and Others, held that the law is valid in all respects except on the matter related to the judicial review, which was held as unconstitutional. Any law affecting Articles 136, 226 and 227 of the Constitution is required to be ratified by the States under Article 368(2) of the Constitution. As the required number of State assemblies had not ratified the provision, the Supreme Court declared the rule to be unconstitutional.

The Court also held that the Speaker, while deciding cases pertaining to defection of party members, acts as a tribunal and nothing more than that, and that his/ her decisions are subject to the review power of the High Courts and the Supreme Court. Mentioning a rule of caution, the Supreme Court warned against the exercise of power of judicial review prior to making of any decision by the Speaker.

According to the Rule 2 it can be seen that the anti-defection law puts the members of the party into a bracket of obedience in accordance with the rules and policies of the party, restricting the legislator's freedom to oppose the wrong acts of the party, bad policies, leaders and bills. A political party acts as a dictator for its members who are not allowed to dissent. In this way it violates the principle of representative democracy wherein the members are forced to obey the high command. Rule 4 of the Tenth Schedule seems to provide some exception from disqualification of members in the cases relating to mergers, there seems to be some loophole in the law. The provision tends to safeguard the members of a political party where the original political party merges with another party subject to the condition that at least two-third of the members of the legislature party concerned have agreed to such merger. The flaw seems to be that the exception is based on the number of members rather than the reason behind the defection. Concluding his observation on the law he said that the introduction of the Tenth Schedule in the Indian Constitution was aimed at curbing political defections. Though the law has succeeded in a reasonable way but due to some of its loopholes, it has not been able to achieve the best it can. The programme concluded with the vote of thanks proposed by the coordinator Sri S.B. Boregowda.

REPORT ON ONE DAY WEBINAR
"AN APPROACH TO ANCIENT INDIAN AND MODERN JURISPRUDENCE" TO MARK THE 120TH BIRTH ANNIVERSARY OF JUSTICE M.C CHAGLA

Held On
24th October 2020

The programme was organized to mark the 120th birth anniversary of Justice M.C Chagla who was a renowned jurist and is remembered for his contribution to the development of modern jurisprudence through his decisions. There were 54 academicians, 15 research scholars and 47 students registered for the programme but only 100 could participate since the participation was limited to 100 members only. The programme began with the invocation song by Dr. Sridevi Krishna, Assistant Professor and Coordinator of the programme. The guest speaker Dr. T.R Maruthi, Professor, Dept. of Studies in Law, UOM, Mysore was welcomed and introduced by Smt Deepu.P, Principal.

Speaking in this occasion Dr. T.R Maruthi, stressed upon the learning through civilization. He said India is rich in culture and there are many cultures which influence our living. The civilizations we came across had faced many wars and every time there is a task to regain peace. During war we find breach of rights whereas during peace there is presence of justice. In Ancient India there was a tremendous development of culture and other matters like astronomy, medicine; grammar etc. there was also systematic development of law which was based on 'Dharma'-the truth, belief etc. there was a transformation from Dharma to Veda and thus there lies the transformation of civilization. Modern Jurisprudence is known for collective justice and religion has brought not only tolerance but also acceptance. Further speaking on science he mentioned about natural science which is an inanimate matter and Social science which deals with social behavior of human beings. Jurisprudence is also one of the social sciences which deal with knowledge of law, skills, principles etc. it is the mother of all law which comprises of theories and concepts of law. Speaking on the Public Policy he said Indian law has the oldest pedigree on Hindu Law. The personal laws guide the life of people and their living. Though there is Westernization influence, it does not matter at all when it comes to the enforcement of personal laws. He highlighted the influence of modern jurisprudence citing August Comte, Austin, and Bentham etc. In his concluding remarks he said a new theory in jurisprudence is required which is in line with the postmodern era.

Vote of Thanks was proposed by Prof K.B Vasudeva, Director of Legal Studies.

Report on National Webinar on Efficacy of UNO in 21st Century

On 22nd December, 2020 National Webinar on Efficacy of UNO in 21st century was organized. Smt Deepu.P, Principal welcomed the guest and participants.

In this webinar, the keynote speaker Dr. Subramanya, Dean, CMR Law School and Former Vice-Chancellor, Karnataka State Law University, Hubballi delivering his lecture said that, since the end of the Cold War, the United Nations has been challenged by "new threats" such as poverty, terrorism, infectious diseases, and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, in addition to those caused by interstate conflicts. In coping with these new challenges, the Security Council has evolved to acquire new functions: oversight over the consolidation of peace in post-conflict situations and a de facto legislative role.

In order to prevent the recurrence of violence, the international community needs to adopt a comprehensive and multifaceted approach to consolidate peace, an approach that requires significant amounts of resources. The Security Council thus, needs to enhance its effectiveness by ensuring the fullest participation and cooperation of those Member States that are both willing and able to assume such responsibilities. In addition, the de facto legislative role which the Security Council has come to play recently in such fields as counter-terrorism and non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction needs to become more effective by providing the Security Council with greater representativeness by expanding the Security Council membership.

The composition of the Security Council should reflect the geo-political reality of the 21st century. It is vital that countries demonstrating both the will and the capacity to assume responsibilities for the maintenance of international peace and security play an integral part in the decision-making process. To this end, institutional reform of the Security Council is essential. The majority of UN Member States supports expansion of the Security Council both in permanent and non-permanent membership. United Nations has several bodies such as the World Health Organization (WHO), United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) etc. The two principal bodies of the UN are the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA), the United Nations Security Council (UNSC). UNGA allows the members to discuss debate and make recommendations on global issues, whereas UNSC is responsible for maintaining international peace & security. UNSC is the most powerful organ of the United Nations.

Speaking on humanitarian assistance on for global security, he said prompt and effective humanitarian assistance is the key to a successful international response during and after conflicts. In this context, humanitarian assistance is clearly one of the essential elements for promoting global security. One salient feature of armed conflicts in recent years is the fact that civilians comprise as much as 80% of the casualties. While armed conflict gives rise to humanitarian crises, it can also instantly wipe out the results of development efforts made over many years and precipitate huge economic losses. Unrest and conflict have at times even destroyed the basic structure of a state, with the result that some countries and regions have been left with a seriously weakened government or no government at all. Assistance to such weak states has become a key international issue. Concluding his speech he said,

The concept of "security" is now better understood in a broader context. As the Brundtland Commission transformed the conceptual thinking of the international community by defining "sustainable development," the conclusions of the Commission on Human Security may well transform the operational modality of the world by calling for the enhancement of security so as to ensure the survival, livelihood and dignity of ordinary people - and not only the integrity of sovereign states. The Commission, chaired by Sadako Ogata and Amartya Sen, focused on the need to protect and empower people at the individual level and called for the integration of fragmented international responses to humanitarian and developmental concerns, thus endeavoring to complement conventional "state security" with "human security." The Commission's report, Human Security Now, was submitted to UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan in May 2003 and made a number of significant recommendations to the international community, such as the creation of a "post-conflict transition fund," the establishment of an international system to deal with the movement of people and the adoption of a policy to ensure a "social minimum."

The programme concluded with vote of thanks was delivered by Prof. Boregowda S.B , Coordinator of Human Rights Committee.

REPORT OF NATIONAL WEBINAR ON "THE ENRICA LEXIE CASE: THE INDIAN AND INTERNATIONAL LAW IMPLICATIONS"

A Webinar on "The Enrica Lexie Case: The Indian and International Law Implications" was organized on 28th October 2020 at 11-00 am. Principal, Prof. Deepu.P delivered welcomed everyone.

Resource Person of this webinar Dr. David Ambrose, Rtd. Professor, Dept. of Studies in Law, University of Madras delivering his speech said that, the problem of relationship between the rules of International Law and Municipal Law is one of the most controversial questions of legal theory and at present determination of their relationship has acquired practical significance as well. Originally the connection between the 2 laws was a matter of theoretical importance i.e., whether Law of Nations and Municipal law are parts of a universal legal order or they form two distinct systems of law. The foremost question which appears before International tribunal is whether International Law takes primacy over municipal law, or vice versa. The question of relationship of the two systems has acquired importance in modern International law also because a very large part of it is directly concerned with the activities of individuals who come under the jurisdiction of municipal courts. Thus, it is in the municipal courts an increasing part of International Law is enforced.

He said the government of India also filed a special leave petition before the Supreme Court on 3rd July 2012 seeking disposal of all criminal proceedings against the two Italian marines in the eight-year-old Enrica Lexie case in which a fishing boat was fired at off the shores of Kerala on February 2012, resulting in the death of two Indian fishermen. The Supreme Court of India firstly, set aside the Kerala High Court judgement saying that it did not have any jurisdiction to deal with the issues of the Italian marines even regarding the investigation of the incident. The court further directed for a special court to be formed to conduct the proceedings of this case. Highlighting on Arbitral proceedings he said, on 11th December 2015, Italy filed a "Request for the Prescription of Provisional Measures pursuant to Article 290, paragraph 1 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea". On 26th February 2016, India submitted the "Written Observations of the Republic of India on the Request of the Italian Republic for the Prescription of Provisional Measures under Article 290, paragraph 1, of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea". Following a public hearing held in the Peace Palace, on 29th April 2016, the Arbitral Tribunal adopted an Order in respect of Italy's Request. On 14th April 2017, India submitted its Counter-Memorial, in which it, in addition to responding to Italy's Memorial, raised objections to the jurisdiction of the Arbitral Tribunal and the admissibility of Italy's claims, and presented counter-claims. On 11th August 2017, Italy filed its "Reply on the Merits – Counter-Memorial on Jurisdiction – Counter-Memorial on India's Counter-Claims". On 15th December 2017, India submitted its "Rejoinder on the Merits – Reply on Jurisdiction – Reply to Italy's Counter on India's Counter-Claims". On 9 March 2018, Italy filed its "Rejoinder on Jurisdiction and on India's Counter-Claims".

On 26th November 2018, the Republic of India appointed Dr. Pemmaraju Sreenivasa Rao as arbitrator. Dr. Pemmaraju Sreenivasa Rao succeeds Judge Patibandla Chandrasekhara Rao, who had passed away on 11 October 2018, on the Arbitral Tribunal. In the event of the passing of a member of the Arbitral Tribunal, Article 6 of the Rules of Procedure provides that "the proceedings shall resume at the stage where the arbitrator who was replaced ceased to perform his or her functions, unless the Arbitral Tribunal decides otherwise."

Due to the illness of Judge Rao, the hearing, originally scheduled to take place in the autumn of 2018, was postponed. On 19 December 2018, the Tribunal announced that the hearing would instead be held from 8 July to 20 July 2019. From 8 July to 20 July 2019, the hearing was held at the seat of the Permanent Court of Arbitration ("PCA") at the Peace Palace, The Hague, the Netherlands. The hearing addressed the jurisdiction of the Arbitral Tribunal as well as the merits of Italy's claims and India's counter-claims.

At the start of the hearing, on 8th July 2019, the Agent of the Italian Republic and the Agent of the Republic of India each made a brief opening statement, which was webcast live on the Internet. A video recording of the Agents' opening statements is available below, under the rubric "Video", the transcript is available under the rubric Minutes, and photographs of the hearing are available for download under the rubric "Image". Pursuant to Article 23, paragraph 3, of the Rules of Procedure, as amended by Procedural Order No. 7 dated 16 May 2019, the remaining parts of the hearing were confidential and not webcast.

On 2nd July 2020, having issued its Award to the Parties, the Arbitral Tribunal published the operative part of the Award on the PCA Case Repository. In accordance with the Rules of Procedure, as amended by Procedural Order No. 7, the Parties were provided with the opportunity to consider whether any parts of the Award should be designated as containing "confidential information". On 10 August 2020, the Award, with certain redactions made at the request of the Parties, was published on the PCA Case Repository. The government said that it had "decided to accept and abide" by the order passed by the Arbitral Tribunal constituted under the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, which held on July 2, 2020 that "India is precluded from exercising its jurisdiction over the marines and entitled to claim compensation from Italy". India moved to the Supreme Court to file for an application to end all proceedings that were initiated regarding the Enrica Lexie case, with compliance to the decision of the Permanent Court of Arbitration. All matters regarding the merits of the case and punishment of the marines would now be handled by the Italian Courts.

Concluding his observation on the case he said, we can see how India has finally lost its jurisdiction of this 8-year old case but has not completely lost on the merits of the case as Italy is still liable to pay compensation to India for the damage caused by the firing of the two fishermen. Although the decision regarding the compensation is final, there is still a judgement left regarding the penalty for the Italian marines by their local jurisdiction. The programme concluded with the vote of thanks proposed by the coordinator Sri S.B Boregowda.

Report of the Webinar on "Justice V. R Krishna Iyer: An Activist Judge"-To mark 105th Birth Anniversary of Justice V. R Krishna Iyer

On 18th November 2020, the IQAC wing and Student Council of our college had organized webinar on "Justice V. R Krishna Iyer: An Activist Judge"-to mark 105th Birth Anniversary of Justice V. R Krishna Iyer. The distinguished speaker of the webinar was Dr. Chidananda Reddy. S. Patil., Professor of Law, Karnataka State Law University, Navanagar, Hubballi. Prof. K.B. Vasudeva, Legal Director, briefed the objectives and relevance of topic of the webinar. Principal, Smt Deepu. P, welcomed all participants and introduced the speaker

Prof. Chidananda Reddy. S. Patil., while addressing the participants, expressed the concern on the relevance of the topic. He enlightened all the participants by expressing that, Justice V. R. Krishna Iyer, an Activist Judge, born on November 15th, 1914 in Vaidyanathapura near Palakkad, Kerala and they started legal carrier in 1937 under his father, a leading criminal lawyer V.V. Rama Iyer and Krishna Iyer has also tried his luck in politics and elected as an MLA to Madras Assembly and also appointed as minister in the government and subsequently his passion to law brought him to legal profession and he was elevated as judge of Kerala High Court in 1968 and he resigned and join Law Commission of India and later elevated as judge to Supreme Court of India in 1973.

Further he said that V.R. Krishna Iyer had delivered more than 400 landmark judgments. He was a person of ability and caliber with innovative thinking and analytical mind, person on a mission for cause of social justice, human rights jurisprudence and awarded with "Padma Vibhushan". All his judgments are filled with valuable ideas. He was the shining star in the galaxy of judges. Professor also advised the participants to read books like- Autobiography of Fali S. Nariman, God Save the Hon'ble Supreme Court Indian Legal System: Can it be Saved, State of the Nation, Arbitration Series; V.R. Krishna Iyer 'Unspeakable Anecdotes'. He cited that all these books have references to Justice. V.R. Krishna Iyer.

Professor also expressed that, Justice. V.R. Krishna Iyer was a path finder and creative judicial thinker and is known for his contribution towards rendering social justice. Once Justice M. N. Venkatachalaiah said that the range of Krishna Iyer mind equates to Aristotle. H. M. Seervoi, a noted Constitutional Law author wrote, the Supreme Court move towards its finest hour after Justice. V. R. Krishna Iyer rejected Smt. Gandhi application for an unconditional stay that changed the history of nation. He concluded his speech with the words of Fali Nariman that, 'when Justice Krishna Iyer speaks the nation listens' and that was the significance of Justice V. R. Krishna Iyer. Finally he clarified all question and doubts posed by the participants. The Coordinator of the webinar, Dr. Kumara.N.J rendered vote of thanks.

In this webinar about 250 participants from various institutions across the state had joined. Online certificates were issued to all the registered participants, webinar attendees and feedback was collected from them.

WORKSHOP ON CONSUMER AWARENESS PROGRAMME REPORT - 2021

On ~~23rd~~ ~~Feb~~ ~~2021~~ at 11.30AM Workshop on Consumer Awareness was organized in association with BIS Bangalore, All Indian Consumer Welfare Association, Nagpur & Nehru Youth Centre, Mysore at Room No 09. Sri Shivakumar H S Co-ordinator of the workshop welcomes the gathering. In this programme inaugurated by Sri. Siddaramappa Director Nehru Youth Centre, Mysuru. In his inaugural address he pointed out that, consumer protection is the practice of safeguarding buyers of goods and services, and the public, against unfair practices in the marketplace. Consumer protection measures are often established by law. Such laws are intended to prevent businesses from engaging in fraud or specified unfair practices in order to gain an advantage over competitors or to mislead consumers. They may also provide additional protection for the general public which may be impacted by a product (or its production) even when they are not the direct purchaser or consumer of that product. For example, government regulations may require businesses to disclose detailed information about their product, particularly in areas where public health or safety is an issue, such as with food or automobiles. Consumer protection is linked to the idea of consumer rights and to the formation of consumer organizations, which help consumers, make better choices in the marketplace and pursue complaints against businesses. Entities that promote consumer protection include government organizations.

This Workshop presided by Smt. Deepu P Principal, in her presidential address, she pointed out Consumer protection laws offer an important part of a reliable market economy. While "buyer beware" was once the motto of the free market, these regulations help keep sellers honest, with no threat of unpleasant surprises. Suppose you buy a new bike for your daughter as a birthday gift. When she tries it in the park three weeks later, you both notice the front tire is bent. What do you do? Should you fix it yourself and avoid the trouble of going back to the store? Has the return time lapsed? Is the bike still covered under warranty? What do you do if you didn't purchase extra insurance coverage? Does a rain check apply if the price suddenly changes if you need to buy a new item? The blue sweater you bought has given you a rash. When you look at the label, you notice that it's not 100% cotton as advertised. Instead, it is made from a mix of unpronounceable materials. Have you got a legitimate dispute with the seller? These are some of the scenarios that customers go through daily. Consumer protection legislation is meant to protect us against these types of issues. That is why it's important to familiarize ourselves with the more common consumer protection laws. Concluding the workshop vote of thanks was delivered by Smt Indumathi M.J, Asst. Professor.

This workshop was witnessed by Teaching, Non-Teaching Staff and Students.

Another Chief Guest, Prof K.B Vasudeva Director of Legal Studies analyzed the importance of Consumer awareness in the contemporary era. Consumer protection means safeguarding the interest and rights of consumers. In other words, it refers to the measures adopted for the protection of consumers from unscrupulous and unethical malpractices by the business and to provide them speedy redressal of their grievances.

The resource person of this workshop Sri M Pradeep Kumar, Scientist, Indian Standard Bureau, Bangalore explained on the concept of Food Adulteration how it's dangerous to consumer protection. Food Adulteration can be defined as the practice of adulterating food or contamination of food materials by adding a few substances, which are collectively called adulterants. Adulterants are the substance or poor quality products added to food items for economic and technical benefits. Addition of these adulterants reduces the value of nutrients in food and also contaminates the food, which is not fit for consumption. These adulterants can be available in all food products which we consume daily, including dairy products, cereals, pulses, grains, meat, vegetables, fruits, oils, and beverage.

In this workshop Chief Guest Dr. M.P Varsha, State President, All Indian Consumer Welfare Council. Spoke about Consumer Dispute Redress Forums have been set up throughout India in each and every district in which a consumer can file his/her complaint on a simple paper with nominal court fees and his/her complaint will be decided by the Presiding Officer of the District Level. The complaint can be filed by both the consumer of goods as well as of the services. An appeal could be filed to the State Consumer Disputes Redress Commissions and after that to the National Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission (NCDRC). The procedures in these tribunals are relatively less formal and more people friendly and they also take less time to decide upon a consumer dispute[6] when compared to the years-long time taken by the traditional Indian judiciary. In recent years, many effective judgments have been passed by some state and National Consumer Forums. Indian Contract Act, 1872 lays down the conditions in which promises made by parties to a contract will be legally binding on each other. It also lays down the remedies available to aggregate party if the other party fails to honor his promise. The Sale of Goods Act of 1930 act provides some safeguards to buyers of goods if goods purchase

REPORT ON ONE DAY ONLINE WORKSHOP ON CAREER GUIDANCE -2021

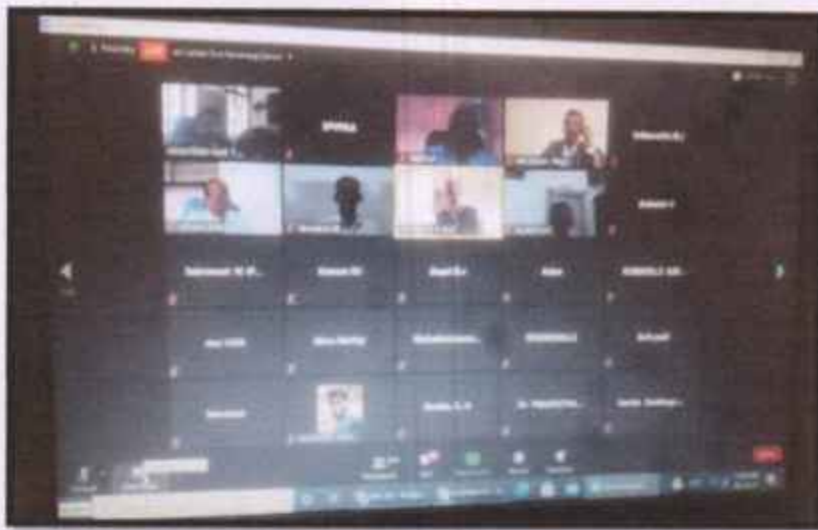

On 08-07-2021 one day online career guidance workshop was organized in association with Karnataka State Law University, Hubballi. This beneficiary of the workshop was final year students of law colleges of Mysore Zone.

We started our workshop through by the inauguration program. Before inaugurating the workshop our Principal Dr. Deepu P had welcome one and all. This workshop was inaugurated by Prof. P. Ishwar Bhat Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Karnataka state law University.

Prof. P Ishwar Bhat Hon'ble Vice chancellor of KSLU inaugurated our workshop. While inaugurating the program they suggested to every law colleges to give much more importance to the establishment of Legal aid cell. Even they explain the power and the functions of Legal service Authorities who are playing a vital role for the achievement of Justice. They also stated that An Act to constitute legal services authorities to provide free and competent legal services to the weaker sections of the society to ensure that opportunities for securing justice are not denied to any citizen by reason of economic or other disabilities, and to organize lok Adalats to secure that the operation of the legal system promotes justice on a basis of equal opportunity.

Our Chief Guest of the program also appreciated our university effort for promoting student oriented program such as career guidance program. Even they explain about legal aid and legal service authority in the administration of justice. These authorities give free legal aid to a person if he/she is not capable of bearing the expenditure. This includes appointing a lawyer in case the person is a defendant in a case.

Sri. Mohammed Zubair N KAS Registrar KSLU Hubballi also addressed the gathering through the moral story. They also appreciated for conducting the career guidance program to the final students of law colleges. Even they explain the importance of the term Justice. Justice is an ideal representing something that is just and right. It basically means being just, impartial, fair and right. What is just may depend on the context, but its requirement is essential to the idea of justice. Justice generally means the recognition, application and enforcement of laws by courts. This is different from the understanding of justice in the ancient period when it was given a religious and moralistic meaning.

Presidential speech was delivered by Sri. Gundappa Gowda Hon, ble President of Vidyavardhaka Sangha Mysore. They rendered the best wishes to our program.

Lastly we request Dr. D Rangaswamy Assistant Professor, KSLU and co-ordinator of the workshop to render the vote of thanks.

After inauguration programme, in the first session Prof. K.S SURESH CEO, JSS Law College, Mysuru delivered a lecture on OPPORTUNITIES FOR LAW GRADUATES.

They explained the career option in India after law. Once a candidate has successfully completed an undergraduate degree of law, many future career options are open for him/ her. With a degree in BA LLB, B.Sc LLB, B.Com LLB, or LLB, students can venture many sectors for their professional debut. Some of the most popular sectors in which candidates seek jobs after completing graduation in law have been mentioned below.

- Judiciary
- Practice of Law
- Government Jobs and Armed Forces
- Private Sector

Even they explain the career option through International Focus.

Legal education in India is similar to the one in Britain. Whereas several universities in the UK offer legal education to Indian students, Indian students quite enjoy working in the UK wherein they receive attractive salary packages. A recent trend has been that students from India study in law colleges in the USA and receive attractive jobs after completion of the course. Harvard Law School, Yale University, Australia National University, etc. are some attractive options for Indian law students these days.

After the first session we conducted the second session. The session II was on WHY NOT I? (MOTIVATION) by Sri. Praveen V Gudi Motivator and life Coach, Founder My Life Hubballi.

Our resource person explains about how Inspiration helps propel people forward. It pushes apathy away and awakens people to new and exciting possibilities. They're able to transcend their limitations and mundane lives. It can help all people to become more creative and help them to progress toward their goals if they are open to it.

Although inspiration impacts people in several meaningful and often magical ways, it is not something as elusive as it seems. Inspiration is everywhere, and it can be captured, activated, and manipulated. Most often, inspiration is found in others who say something or do something thought provoking and meaningful.

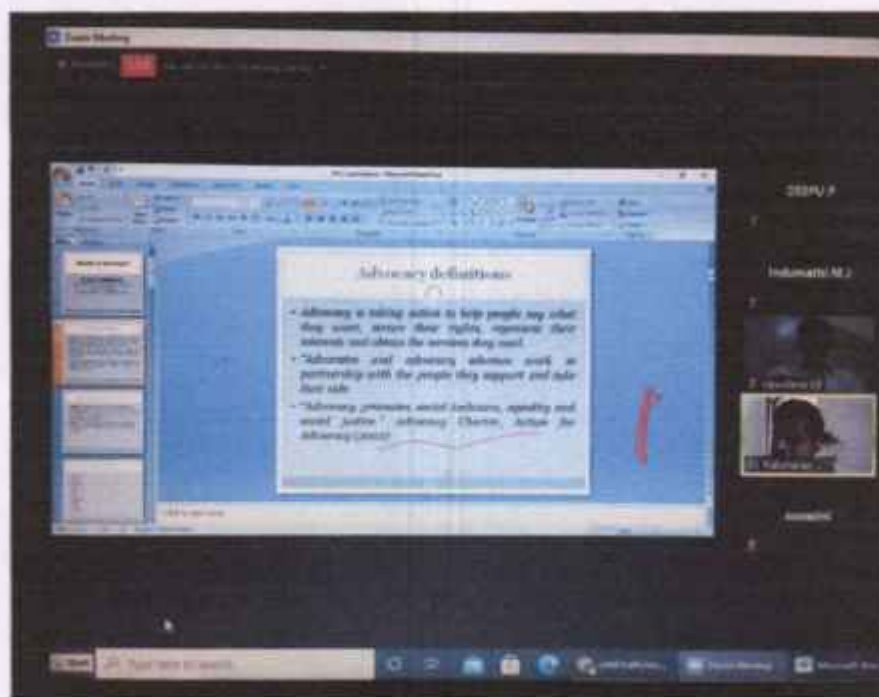

Success is subjective and different for each person. But irrespective of the fact, everyone strives to be successful in life and reach up to some target goal they have set in life. Be it a working professional or a student, everyone has some goals in mind they would want to achieve in a span of time. So in order to stay motivated and go in the right direction towards achieving success, a motivating speech is a must.

Students are at a stage in their lives where they can achieve more in life. They generally have the energy and enthusiasm they need to channelize it in the right direction. Sometimes students might get influenced by wrong things in life and need to be put on the right track. So institutions are generally conduct motivational sessions from time to time to inspire the students to become better human beings.

After the completion of second session, we started our session III on TRAITS OF ADVOCACY by Dr. Kalicharan, Principal, Vidyavikas of legal studies Mysore.

Our resource person stated that In Advocacy there must be Clarity of purpose, Safeguard, Confidentiality, Equality and diversity, Empowerment and putting people first are the principles of advocacy. Good communication skills, Analytical and research skills, judgment, Creativity, Logical thinking are some qualities of good advocate.

Advocacy is an important skill because it brings about a difference in people's lives, to their businesses, their residences and indeed to the society. They explained few important points of Advocacy are the necessary qualities a good lawyer should possess---

Preparation: Every hearing takes a lot of preparation in order to present the case in a perfect way. A good Advocate cannot afford to be clueless or get nervous while presenting the facts.

Planning: Not all facts and evidence should be presented in the first hearing itself. A good Advocate needs to plan out 'how much to show and when to show it. And also how much to hide' in order to preserve the confidential data from the opposition.

Perception: The Advocate's perception towards the case matters the most. If he is sure about his client being innocent, only then he will be able to prove him innocent in front of the Law.

Perseverance: Cases are never simple. If they were, people wouldn't have needed an Advocate in the first place! Thus, a good Advocate is someone who sticks to the case facing all the odds and difficulties inside as well as outside of the court.

Persuade: No person has ever or will ever be able to become a good lawyer without good persuasion skill. An Advocate should be sure of what he is speaking as well as be able to persuade others into believing him.

Lastly, good Advocate is someone who is always one step ahead of his opposition.

After the completion of Session III our principal Dr. Deepu P and Prof. K B Vasudeva, Director of legal studies, Vidyavardhaka law college Mysore immensely expressed their gratitude to every resource persons of the workshop. Even they expressed their gratitude to every participants of the career guidance workshop.

REPORT OF ONE DAY NATIONAL SEMINAR IN MEMORY OF PROF.
P.M.CHIKKABORAI AH ON BENAMI LAWS IN INDIA: THE LEGAL CHALLENGES

On 03-09-2022 One Day National Seminar in Memory of Prof. P.M.Chikkaboraiah on "Benami Laws in India: The Legal Challenges" was organized. This programme was inaugurated by Hon'ble Justice Sri. Srinivas Gowda, Chairman, REERA & Former Judge High Court of Karnataka. In his inaugural speech said enacted in 1988, the Benami Transactions (Prohibition) Act bars 'Benami' transactions and gives government the right to confiscate 'Benami' property. The real owner buys it on someone else's name to make profit and circumvent the tax laws. The act says that a 'Benami' transaction is a deal "where a property is transferred to or is held by, a person and the consideration for such property has been provided, or paid by, another person". It also includes transactions where "the property is held for the immediate or future benefit, direct or indirect, of the person who has provided the consideration.

In this seminar key note address delivered by Dr. Sunny, Vice-Chancellor, National University of Advanced Legal Studies, Kochi, Kerala. He said a Benami transaction is a transaction "where a property is transferred to or is held by, a person and the consideration for such property has been provided, or paid by, another person.

It also includes transactions where "the property is held for the immediate or future benefit, direct or indirect, of the person who has provided the consideration. The amendment that came into effect on November 1, 2016, inserted a sub-section 2 in section 3 of part 3 of the act. It specified that whoever enters a Benami transaction shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term of up to three years or a fine or both & said the new punishment was also being applied retrospectively to the transactions that took place before 2016.

This programme was presided by Sri. Gundappa Gowda, Hon'ble President, Vidyavardhaka Sangha, Mysuru. In his presidential Speech said Benami" means "no name" or "without name". Benami properties are those that are held by an owner through proxies. The property is purchased in the name of or held in the name of a person who has neither paid for it nor actually enjoys it. It may even be held in the name of a non-existent person.

At last vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. BoreGowda S.B.

REPORT OF SEMINAR ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND ITS ROLE IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Human Rights Committee and IQAC of our college organized seminar on Human Rights and its role in international relations in association with Indo Tibetan Friendship Society Mysore on 20-05-2023 at Sri. P.M. Chikkabaraiah Auditorium. Welcome speech was rendered by Principal Dr. Deepu. P. Chief Guest of this Programme Mrs. Norzin Dolma, Cabinet Minister, Dept. of Information and international relations, Tibetan Government in Exile, Dharmashala. In her speech said Sixty-six years after the founding of the United Nations, human rights looks like an insular world unto itself: A system with its own standards, institutions and mechanisms, a world of experts still far from being intrinsically connected to people's daily life worlds. Insofar as the mass media pay attention to human rights questions and issues, their focus is primarily on international relations and foreign policy. This would not give any reason for concern if the emphasis were just on human rights as an end to be achieved. What permeate international relations are, however, human rights as an instrument to uplift a state's own credibility while undermining that of other states. In that respect two distinctive ways of twisting human rights may be discerned: Offensive and defensive human rights.

PRINCIPAL

She said Offensive human rights imply a focus on violations by other states. Illustrative in this respect is the usual practice in the relations between Cuba and the United States: In whatever forum possible, motions are put forward to censure the rival state. The term defensive human rights, on the other hand, refers to the practice of signing and ratifying whatever treaty possible (not uncommonly with pre-announced reservations) as well as incorporating human rights standards in the country's national constitution, not as a first step towards implementation but simply as a point of positive reference whenever questions are asked as to the country's human rights record. To be sure, the ensuing state obligations are internationally enforceable only if systematic non-compliance were first reported to the UN Security Council and next resulted in action in the form of sanctions.

Unfortunately, however, gross violations of human rights remain a continuing fixture of the situation in Tibet, in spite of the efforts of various concerned governments—including the U.S.—and NGOs to focus attention on the problem. It is crucial, therefore, that measures for putting effective pressure on China to adhere to recognized international human rights norms be included as a key component of U.S. policy towards China and be built into legislation governing U.S. relations with China.

At last vote of thanks was rendered by Kum. Varshitha 6th sem 3yr LL.B

REPORT ON PROF P.M. CHIKKABORAIAH MEMORIAL NATIONAL SEMINAR ON ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND JUSTICE SYSTEM: EMERGING TRENDS

Prof P.M. Chikkaboriaah Memorial National Seminar on Artificial Intelligence and Justice System: Emerging Trends was organized on 13-07-2024. This Programme was inaugurated by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Shukur Kamal, High Court of Karnataka. In his inaugural speech he said, presently Indian Judicial system is facing a major problem and that is the huge backlog of the pending cases at all levels of Courts in judicial hierarchy, from Taluka Courts to Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. As of late it has been debated that if the early action is not taken, the Judicial system would collapse and would be practical meaningless, and not only that, but the worse thing would be is that the common men will lose the faith in the judicial system. Timely justice is necessary. In one of its judgements, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that Justice delayed is justice denied.

Apart from common man approaching the Courts, the investors, particularly foreign investors have a great concern regarding the effectiveness of judicial system. Whenever any investor thinks of investing in India, his first concern is, that in case of dispute, no timely justice or dispute resolution would be there. This may change the mind of investor and he might back out from investing. The era of automated machines and reliance on more of machines even for the smallest of the tasks is a natural. “Artificial Intelligence” is one remarkable solution in the field of legal industry. In the common parlance, artificial intelligence can be described in contrast to natural intelligence by humans as machinery or robotic system of providing quick and prompt solutions.

In this Programme Keynote address was delivered by Dr. Sudesh, Professor & Principal, University Law College, Bangalore University, said Today, AI is unsettling nearly every profession and industry. However, the usage of AI in the legal sector in India now is being limited to automated contract review, legal research, transcription services, etc. The article explores the advantages of integrating AI technology into the legal field, while also examining its impacts, the regulations overseeing its application, and the possible obstacles that may surface. The development of AI technology provides an opportunity for lawyers to improve their efficiency, reduce costs and focus on more strategic work. AI can handle mechanical and routine tasks like document and contract review, legal research and data analysis. This can ultimately lead to increased productivity and profitability for law firms. However, AI is not yet capable of handling more complex tasks such as deal structuring, negotiation, advocacy and representation in court. As a result, the use of AI may decrease billable hours for law firms.

While larger firms may have the means to implement AI systems, smaller firms may struggle to keep up with the cost of technology and remain cost-effective. He said Since 2021, the Supreme Court has been using an AI-controlled tool designed to process information and make it available to judges for decisions. It does not participate in the decision-making process. Another tool that is used by the Supreme Court of India is SUVAS (Supreme Court Vidhik Anuvaad Software) which translates legal papers from English into vernacular languages and vice versa. AI has many potential benefits for society, such as improving healthcare, education, transportation and entertainment. However, AI poses challenges and risks, such as ethical dilemmas, privacy violations, bias, discrimination and security threats.

Presidential Address delivered by Sri. Gundappa Gowda, President, Vidyavardhaka Sangha, Mysuru said Artificial intelligence is a field of science concerned with building computers and machines that can reason, learn, and act in such a way that would normally require human intelligence or that involves data whose scale exceeds what humans can analyse and various AI tools, applications, and software enhance efficiency and accuracy across different legal functions, ranging from document review to due diligence, contract management, and predictive analysis.

At last vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. Bore Gowda S.B., Assistant Professor, Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysuru.

I Technical Session 11:15 am to 1:15 P M

In first technical session chaired by Dr. Sudesh. V. Prof and Principal, University Law College, Bangalore University, Bengaluru.

In this session the resource person Dr. M.R.K. Prasad, Prof. of Law, V.M. Salgaocar Law College, Goa delivered a lecture on "From Algorithm to Evidence; Reliability and admissibility of Artificial Intelligence-Data under Bhartiya Sakshya Adhinyam. He said Artificial intelligence (AI) is the emulation of human intellect in devices that have been designed to behave and think like humans. The phrase may also be used to refer to any computer that demonstrates characteristics of the human intellect, such as learning and problem-solving.

He said ability to reason and take actions that have the highest likelihood of reaching a certain objective is the ideal quality of artificial intelligence. Machine learning (ML), a subtype of artificial intelligence, is the idea that computer systems can automatically learn from and adapt to new data without human assistance. Deep learning algorithms allow for this autonomous learning by ingesting vast quantities of unstructured data, including text, photos, and video. Section 17 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, defines the term 'admission.' Admissibility involves determining whether the judge can legally consider evidence or information presented in court when deciding a case's outcome. It hinges on factors like relevance, reliability, and adherence to legal procedures stipulated in the Act and other relevant laws. The Act specifies rules for admissibility, including those related to relevancy, hearsay, expert opinions, character evidence, public documents, privileged communication, admissions, confessions, and the potential exclusion of illegally obtained evidence. Judges are responsible for assessing the admissibility of evidence in line with the Act, ensuring a just and equitable legal process.

Admissibility encompasses all relevant facts that a court deems permissible. In accordance with Section 136 of the Evidence Act, the ultimate authority for determining the admissibility of evidence in a case rests with the judge.

In the same technical session, another resource person Sri. Phaneendra, Advocate and Forensic Expert, Bengaluru, delivered a lecture on “Impact of Artificial Intelligence in Forensic Investigator”. He said Forensic science, the meticulous art of unravelling mysteries and solving crimes, stands as a formidable pillar in the pursuit of justice. In a world increasingly marked by technological advancements, the integration of Artificial Intelligence (AI) into forensic practices heralds a transformative era.

This convergence promises to revolutionize the traditional methodologies, enhancing the precision, efficiency, and scope of forensic investigations. As we embark on a journey through the intricate tapestry of AI and forensic science, it becomes imperative to explore the profound implications, challenges, and ethical considerations that accompany this synergy.

The marriage of cutting-edge AI technologies with the age-old pursuit of truth holds the potential to redefine how we unravel the complexities of criminal cases and, in doing so, shapes the very fabric of our legal landscape. This exploration seeks to shed light on the multifaceted impact of AI in forensic science, examining its role in crime scene analysis, biometrics, DNA analysis, cyber forensics, predictive policing, and the ethical dimensions that accompany this technological frontier. In essence, we delve into a realm where artificial intelligence becomes the silent yet potent ally of justice, transcending the boundaries of conventional investigative practices. AI in Crime Scene Analysis In the intricate dance of forensic science, crime scene analysis serves as the initial choreography, setting the stage for the investigation to unfold. Artificial Intelligence (AI) has gracefully waltzed into this critical phase, orchestrating a symphony of algorithms that redefine how we scrutinize and interpret crime scenes. Automated Evidence Collection and Processing:

Traditionally, the painstaking task of evidence collection and processing has relied on the keen eyes and meticulous hands of forensic experts. Enter AI, equipped with computer vision algorithms capable of swiftly scanning crime scenes, identifying potential evidence, and even predicting patterns that might escape human observation. For instance, automated drones with

AI-powered image recognition can navigate crime scenes, capturing data efficiently and minimizing the risk of oversight. One of the primary virtues AI brings to crime scene analysis is its ability to process vast amounts of data swiftly. Machine learning algorithms can analyse patterns, recognize anomalies, and draw connections that might elude human cognition. Take gunshot acoustic analysis, for example. AI algorithms can discern subtle variations in sound patterns, helping investigators triangulate the origin of gunshots more accurately than traditional methods.

In IIInd Technical Session the resource person Dr. Ananth Prabhu G., Professor and Principal Investigator, Sahyadri Cyber Security Expert, Mangalore, delivered a lecture on Artificial Intelligence tools to boost productivity in Justice system. He said The development of AI technology provides an opportunity for lawyers to improve their efficiency, reduce costs and focus on more strategic work. AI can handle mechanical and routine tasks like document and contract review, legal research and data analysis. This can ultimately lead to increased productivity and profitability for law firms. However, AI is not yet capable of handling more complex tasks such as deal structuring, negotiation, advocacy and representation in court. As a result, the use of AI may decrease billable hours for law firms. While larger firms may have the means to implement AI systems, smaller firms may struggle to keep up with the cost of technology and remain cost-effective. entertainment. However, AI poses challenges and risks, such as ethical dilemmas, privacy violations, bias, discrimination and security threats.

He said currently, there are no specific laws in India with regard to regulating AI. Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MEITY), is the executive agency for AI-related strategies and had constituted committees to bring in a policy framework for AI.

The Niti Ayog has developed a set of seven responsible AI principles, which include safety & dependability, equality, inclusivity and non-discrimination, privacy and security, transparency, accountability and the protection and reinforcement of positive human values. The Supreme Court and high courts have a constitutional mandate to enforce fundamental rights including the right to privacy. In India, the primary legislation for data protection is the Information Technology Act and its associated rules. Additionally, the Digital Personal Data Protection Bill has been introduced by MEITY, although it is still awaiting formal enactment. If this bill becomes law, individuals will have the ability to inquire about the data collected from them by both private and government entities, as well as the methods utilized to process and store it.

In III technical session more than 13 participants presented a paper on different aspects regarding Artificial Intelligence. This technical session was chaired by Dr. Ambedkar, Principal, Government Law College, Kolar. The programme concluded with distribution of certificate to all the paper presenters.

THE INTERNATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE ON THE RIGHTS OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

AGENDA: The Path to Social Inclusion Through Recognition and Reasonable Accommodation for Disabilities"

COMMITTEE: General Assembly, Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD)

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Dear delegates,

The Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysore, in association with the Institute of Legal and Policy Research (virtual NGO), is proud to organize a virtual Model United Nations Conference on 2nd March 2024. The conference will focus on the topic "Recognition, Reasonable Accommodation, Disability, Inequality, Social Inclusion" in the General Assembly of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD). We are pleased to present to you the background guide for the MUN, which has been organized by the Institute of Legal and Policy Research. This guide provides a comprehensive overview of the issues at hand, offering a bird's eye view of the challenges and opportunities related to the agenda. It is designed to help you understand the complexities of the topic and to serve as a starting point for your research. As you prepare for the conference, we encourage you to delve deeper into the themes and sub-themes raised in the guide, and to explore additional resources to enhance your understanding. We are confident that your dedication and hard work will contribute to meaningful discussions and the development of innovative solutions. We wish you all the best in your preparations and look forward to welcoming you to the conference.

BRIEF REPORT ON MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE

On 2nd March 2024 Model United Nations Conference was held online (Webex platform). The programme began with the welcome note delivered by Dr. Sridevi Krishna, Coordinator of the programme. This programme was inaugurated by Sri Venugopal Padavu, Associate Director, International Affairs, St Joseph University. Delivering the inaugural address he said that persons with disabilities have the right to recognition everywhere as persons before the law. They have equal access to justice, liberty of persons, and freedom from torture or cruel treatment. The CRPD, though distinctive in many respects from other core human rights conventions, bears the closest relationship to treaties that incorporate both civil and political as well as economic, social, and cultural rights and in particular, the Convention on the Rights of the Child. He wished all the very best for the participants connected worldwide.

The Guest of Honour Prof Banu M, Assistant Professor of Computer Science, St Joseph University Bengaluru addressing the students said that today Artificial Intelligence has taken over the world. AI technology has introduced new ways to help people with disabilities feel linked to their surroundings. AI is opening doors for disabled individuals to live independent personal and professional lifestyles. For example, many AI programs help businesses create effective and efficient workflows with virtual assistants like Google Assistant or Amazon Alexa, which can schedule meetings, set reminders and automate many voice tasks. She motivated the students to participate in such conferences in order to get exposure towards world affairs and specific issues related to human rights.

The Key note speaker Prof Daniel Hamilton Fernandes de Lima, Professor of Law, Faculdade Princesa do Oesta, Ceara, Brazil addressing the students that all are equal before law and the right to equality enshrined in UDHR is available for all. The people who are differently abled possess rights which are equal to others. They should be protected by concerned State and it is the responsibility of the State to protect them. Concluding his speech he appreciated the involvement of participants worldwide in such online deliberations.

Prof K.B Vasudeva, Director of Legal Studies delivering the presidential speech said that equality is a wider concept which addresses every issue including the UDHR. The United Nations has always strived to protect the equality principle in every aspect including entering into treaties and covenants. He wished all the very best to the participants representing different countries as delegates and suggested them to come out with the specific issues in their respective State regarding problems of disabled.

The programme continued with the briefing of the session by the organizing secretary Mr S.Q Hashimy, CEO and Founder, Institute of Legal and Policy Research followed by the online deliberations taken over by the Secretary General Ms Fathima Ibrahim, Asst.Professor School of Legal Studies, CUSAT, Kerala. Rapporteur of the MUN Ms Saba Firdose, LL.M student, DOS in Law, University of Mysore took roll call of the delegated present and voting.

The judges of this MUN were Jackson Simango Magoge,Asst. Lecturer at National Institute of Transport, Tanzania and Mr Jally Willy Mongo, Advocate of High Court of Tanzania. Five best delegates were given appreciation letter in this conference. The delegates were delegate of Philippines, Brazil, North Macedonia, France and Qatar.

The programme concluded with vote of thanks delivered by Dr. Sridevi Krishna

Brief Report on United Nations Conference 5th June 2024

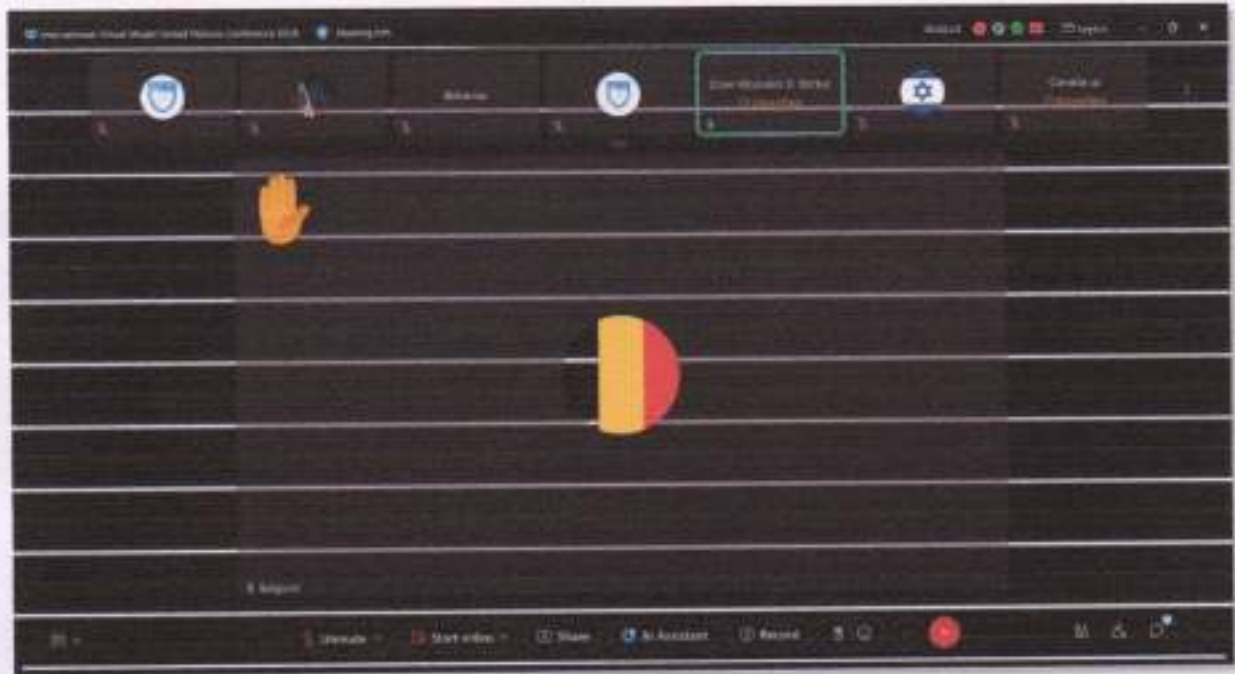

International Virtual Model United Nations Conference was organized on 5th June 2024 in association with Institute of Legal and Policy Research. The programme began with the welcome note delivered by the coordinator Dr. Sridevi Krishna. This programme was inaugurated by Prof (Dr) T.R Maruthi, Director, School of Law, University of Mysore. Speaking in this occasion he said environment protection is a prime concern at universal level today. All countries have come forward to bring a universal principle on protection of environment where polluters may be an individual or a state should be held responsible for causing damage to the environment. He highlighted some of the instances where state responsibility was casted upon a State which violated the principles of environment protection.

Prof (Dr) Basavarajappa speaking at this occasion mentioned about water pollution caused by the State and the responsibility which a state take while polluting the ground water. He highlighted few examples of State initiatives taken for protection and prevention of water pollution.

International Virtual Model United Nations Conference 2024

Agenda: Sustainable Futures: Integrating Environmental Stewardship and Public Health.

Introduction

Welcome to the "Model United Nations Conference on Intricate nexus of Health and Environment." where we convene to delve into the critical intersection of environment and health. This conference serves as a platform for interdisciplinary dialogue, knowledge exchange, and collaboration among experts, policymakers, practitioners, and advocates dedicated to advancing the understanding and addressing the complex relationship between the environment and human health.

THEME:

The central theme of this conference is "Sustainable Futures: Integrating Environmental Stewardship and Public Health." Within this overarching theme, we aim to explore various dimensions of the environment-health nexus, from air and water quality to climate change, biodiversity loss, chemical exposure, food security, and urbanisation, among others.

OBJECTIVES:

1. To deepen understanding of the interconnectedness between environmental factors and human health outcomes.
2. To explore innovative research, policies, and interventions that promote environmental sustainability and public health.
3. To facilitate interdisciplinary collaboration and knowledge sharing among stakeholders from diverse sectors.
4. To identify emerging challenges and opportunities at the interface of environment and health.
5. To inspire collective action towards building resilient and equitable communities.

KEY TOPICS:

- a) Air Quality and Respiratory Health
- b) Water Quality and Waterborne Diseases
- c) Climate Change Impacts on Health
- d) Biodiversity Loss and Emerging Infectious Diseases
- e) Chemical Exposure and Health Risks
- f) Food Security and Nutrition

ORGANISERS

The Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysore, in partnership with the Organisation of Green Future Afghanistan (Girls Led NGO), is excited to announce the forthcoming Virtual Model United Nations Conference, focusing on the theme of "Sustainable Futures: Integrating Environmental Stewardship and Public Health." This collaborative initiative aims to explore the critical linkages between health and the environment. The conference will delve into various aspects of the environment-health nexus, including air and water quality, climate change, biodiversity loss, chemical exposure, food security, and urbanisation. Emphasising inclusivity and accessibility, there are no participation fees, and all active participants will receive a Digital Certificate. Scheduled for 5th June 2024, on Environment Day, at 2 PM Indian Time, the conference will take place entirely online, providing a safe platform for global engagement. It will simulate the proceedings of the General Assembly committee UN Environment. We invite passionate individuals to join us in shaping discussions on environmental stewardship and public health, fostering a more inclusive and equitable world where environmental rights are upheld for generations to come.

CONCLUSION

By convening the Virtual Model United Nations Conference on the theme of "Sustainable Futures: Integrating Environmental Stewardship and Public Health," we endeavor to create a dynamic forum where diverse perspectives and expertise converge. Our overarching goal is to catalyse collaborative efforts aimed at building healthier and more sustainable communities worldwide. By bringing together stakeholders from various backgrounds, including academia, government, civil society, and the private sector, we aspire to harness the collective wisdom and innovative potential needed to tackle the complex interplay between environmental sustainability and public health.

At the core of our mission lies a firm belief in the power of science, policy, and collective action to effect positive change. By engaging in robust dialogue and knowledge exchange, we seek to identify practical solutions and strategies that address the pressing environmental and health challenges confronting our planet today. From mitigating the impacts of climate change to combating air and water pollution, preserving biodiversity, ensuring food security, and promoting sustainable urban development, our discussions will explore a wide range of critical issues at the intersection of health and the environment.

Moreover, we recognise the urgency of our collective endeavor, especially in light of the unprecedented global challenges we face. By acting decisively and collaboratively, we can lay the groundwork for a brighter, more resilient future for generations to come. Through innovation, cooperation, and a shared commitment to sustainability, we can forge pathways towards thriving communities and ecosystems. As we embark on this journey together, let us remain steadfast in our dedication to creating positive change. By leveraging our collective expertise and resources, we can turn the tide on environmental degradation and promote the health and well-being of all individuals. Together, we have the opportunity to shape a more equitable, prosperous, and sustainable world for present and future generations alike.

The International Model United Nations Conference on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities

AGENDA: The Path to Social Inclusion Through Recognition and Reasonable Accommodation for Disabilities"

ORGANISER

The Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysore, in association with the Institute of Legal and Policy Research (virtual NGO), is proud to organize a virtual Model United Nations Conference on March 23, 2024. The conference will focus on the topic "Recognition, Reasonable Accommodation, Disability, Inequality, Social Inclusion" in the General Assembly of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD).

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Dear delegates,

The Vidyavardhaka Law College, Mysore, in association with the Institute of Legal and Policy Research (virtual NGO), is proud to organize a virtual Model United Nations Conference on March 23, 2024. The conference will focus on the topic "Recognition, Reasonable Accommodation, Disability, Inequality, Social Inclusion" in the General Assembly of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD).

We are pleased to present to you the background guide for the MUN, which has been organized by the Institute of Legal and Policy Research. This guide provides a comprehensive overview of the issues at hand, offering a bird's eye view of the challenges and opportunities related to the agenda. It is designed to help you understand the complexities of the topic and to serve as a starting point for your research.

As you prepare for the conference, we encourage you to delve deeper into the themes and sub-themes raised in the guide, and to explore additional resources to enhance your understanding. We are confident that your dedication and hard work will contribute to meaningful discussions.

and the development of innovative solutions. We wish you all the best in your preparations and look forward to welcoming you to the conference.

Sincerely,

Executive Board

BACKGROUND GUIDE

The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) and its Optional Protocol, adopted on December 13, 2006, and made available for signature on March 30, 2007, marked a significant moment in international human rights law. With 82 countries signing the Convention and 44 signing the Optional Protocol on the first day, it set a record for the highest number of signatories on the first day of any UN Convention. This highlighted the global recognition of the importance of protecting and promoting the rights of persons with disabilities. One of the key aspects of the CRPD is its status as the first human rights convention to be open for signature by regional integration organizations, in addition to nation-states. This inclusive approach underscores the universal nature of the rights enshrined in the Convention and its Optional Protocol. Effective from May 3, 2008, the CRPD represents a culmination of efforts by the United Nations to change perceptions and approaches to disability. It shifts the focus from viewing persons with disabilities as passive recipients of charity, medical care, and social protection to recognizing them as active participants in society with rights that must be respected and protected.

The CRPD is designed to be an explicit human rights instrument with a social development component, reflecting a holistic approach to addressing the rights of persons with disabilities. It adopts a broad definition of disability, encompassing physical, mental, intellectual, or sensory impairments, and reaffirms that all persons with disabilities are entitled to the full range of human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Moreover, the CRPD clarifies how different categories of rights apply to persons with disabilities and emphasizes the need for reasonable accommodations to ensure their effective exercise of these rights. It also highlights instances where the rights of persons with disabilities have been violated and calls for stronger protection mechanisms to prevent such violations in the future.

Therefore, in this conference, delegates could deliberate on a range of legal issues related to the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD). These issues include ensuring equal access to education for persons with disabilities, combating employment discrimination, improving accessibility in public spaces and technology, supporting independent living and community inclusion, guaranteeing equal access to healthcare, addressing legal capacity and decision-making, preventing violence and abuse, considering intersectionality with other factors, enhancing data collection and monitoring, and promoting international cooperation for rights protection and promotion. These discussions would aim to formulate effective strategies and policies to advance the rights and inclusion of persons with disabilities worldwide.

The following questions are being presented for deliberation at The International Model United Nations Conference on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities:

1. How can member states ensure equal access to education for persons with disabilities, in line with Article 24 of the CRPD?
2. What measures can be taken to combat discrimination in employment on the basis of disability, as outlined in Article 27 of the CRPD?
3. How can countries improve accessibility in public spaces, transportation, and information and communication technologies for persons with disabilities, as mandated by Article 9 of the CRPD?
4. What policies and programs can be implemented to support the right of persons with disabilities to live independently and be included in the community, as per Article 19 of the CRPD?
5. How can healthcare systems be made more accessible and inclusive for persons with disabilities, as required by Article 25 of the CRPD?
6. What legal frameworks are needed to ensure that persons with disabilities enjoy legal capacity on an equal basis with others, as per Article 12 of the CRPD?
7. How can member states prevent and address violence and abuse against persons with disabilities, in accordance with Article 16 of the CRPD?

8. How can intersectionality with other factors such as gender, age, or ethnicity be addressed to ensure the rights of persons with disabilities, as outlined in the CRPD?
9. What mechanisms can be put in place to collect data and monitor the implementation of the CRPD to ensure the rights of persons with disabilities are being upheld?
10. How can international cooperation be strengthened to promote and protect the rights of persons with disabilities, as called for in Article 32 of the CRPD?

MUN STUDY GUIDE

The first simulations of what would later become known as Model United Nations were called an "International Assembly", with the inaugural event held at Oxford University in 1921. Since then, Model United Nations (MUN) has evolved into a global educational activity that fosters open-mindedness and fresh ideas, which are essential elements of successful diplomacy. At its core, MUN encourages participants to understand and analyze all positions, including those they may oppose. This approach mirrors real-world diplomatic efforts, where success often hinges on the ability to see issues from multiple perspectives and find common ground.

MUN is an academic activity that offers participants valuable learning opportunities in diplomacy, international relations, and the workings of the United Nations. It helps develop debating and writing skills, as well as critical thinking, teamwork, and leadership abilities.

Before MUN conferences, delegates conduct research, pre-formulate positions, and develop policy proposals based on the stance of the member state they represent. This preparation is crucial for effective participation in debates and negotiations during the conference. One important aspect of MUN is the writing of position papers, which serve to familiarize delegates with the topics of debate, encourage academic research and writing, and enable thorough preparation for conferences. Unlike parliamentary debates, where the focus is often on arguing the nature of a question or defending a specific agenda, MUN emphasizes finding solutions that can be embraced by all nations, benefitting humanity and the environment. This approach distinguishes power struggles from diplomatic efforts and underscores the importance of cooperation in maintaining international peace and security.

The FLOW OF DEBATE is as follows:

Roll Call (Delegates can either vote as present or present in voting)

Formal debate (Formal debate revolves around the speakers' list. Each speaker can speak max. for 90 seconds)

Moderated caucus, (Each speaker can speak max. for 60 seconds)

Unmoderated caucus, (In an unmoderated caucus, the delegates informally meet with other delegates for discussions) followed by passing the resolution

Drafting Resolution (with the requisite number of sponsors and signatories is submitted to the dais for approval and once approved becomes a draft resolution)

Friendly amendments: Friendly amendments are changes or revisions made to the draft resolution that is approved by all sponsors.

Unfriendly amendments: Unfriendly amendments are not supported by all sponsors and must be voted on by the committee.

Preambulatory clauses: These clauses are substantive, begin a resolution and cannot be amended. Preambulatory clauses provide an overview of the problem and remind member states of past actions taken on the issue.

Operative clauses: These clauses contain the real content and action of a resolution and can be amended. In order to maintain decorum, at the MUN conference we use parliamentary procedures. During the conference, the delegates can make use of four privileges and they are:

- a) Point of personal privilege
- b) Point of the parliamentary enquiry
- c) Points of information
- d) Point of order

The delegates will be judged on the following criteria while awarding marks:

- i. Diplomatic courtesy
- ii. Research

- iii. Analysis
- iv. Direction of debate
- v. Advocating
- vi. Questions and answer
- vii. Rules of procedure

This study guide serves as a foundational resource for your research, providing you with a starting point to explore the themes and sub-themes outlined here. However, it is important to remember that this guide is not exhaustive, and you are encouraged to expand your knowledge by delving deeper into the topics discussed and exploring additional references provided for further research. As you embark on your research journey, you have the opportunity to select a country from the country matrix to represent during the Model United Nations conference. It is important to note that each participant will be allotted only one country to represent, and these allocations will be made based on your preferences on a first-come, first-served basis.

To make the most of your Model UN experience, consider the following steps:

Thorough Research

Dive deep into the themes and sub-themes outlined in the study guide. Explore various sources, such as academic journals, official UN documents, and reputable websites, to gather comprehensive information about your chosen country's stance on these issues.

Country Matrix Selection

Carefully consider your preferences when selecting a country from the country matrix. Research the countries available and prioritize based on your interest in their foreign policy positions and relevance to the conference agenda.

Position Paper Preparation

After selecting your country, prepare a position paper that outlines your country's stance on the topics to be discussed. This paper should reflect thorough research and critical analysis of the issues from your country's perspective.

Engagement in Debates

During the conference, actively participate in debates and negotiations, representing your country's interests while also being open to understanding and considering other viewpoints.

Networking and Collaboration

Use the conference as an opportunity to network with other participants, build alliances, and collaborate on solutions to the global challenges being addressed.

REPORT ON ONE DAY CAREER GUIDANCE WORKSHOP-2024
BANGALORE ZONE-1

ORGANIZED BY
KARNATAKA STATE LAW UNIVERSITY, HUBBALLI
VIDYAVARDHAKA LAW COLLEGE, MYSURU

Brief Overview of the Programme

On July 27, 2024, Vidyavardhaka Law College, career guidance cell in association with Karnataka State Law University, Hubballi hosted a one-day career guidance workshop specifically tailored for final-year students. The event aimed to equip students with the necessary skills and insights to successfully navigate the competitive job market and transition from academic life to professional career.

The workshop commenced at 10:00 AM at Sri PM Chikkaboraiah hall on 27th July 2024 with welcome and deep introduction speech delivered by Dr P Deepu, Principal Vidyavardhaka law college, Mysuru.

The workshop began with an inspiring inauguration by Hon'ble Sri Ravindra Hegde, Principal District and Sessions Judge of Mysore. His address set the tone for the day, emphasizing the importance of career planning and professional development in the legal field. Hon'ble judge highlighted various career opportunities and shared his own experiences to motivate the students.

Following the inauguration, Gundappa Gowda Sir delivered the presidential address, reinforcing the college's commitment to student development and success. He stressed the significance of such workshops in bridging the gap between academic knowledge and practical application, thereby enhancing the employability of graduates. His words underscored the college's dedication to providing comprehensive career support to its students.

The workshop was structured into several technical sessions, each focusing on different aspects of career development. These sessions were led by esteemed professionals and academicians who brought their expertise and insights to the students. The sessions covered a wide range of topics including career opportunities in law, personality development, and essential professional skills. The interactive nature of the workshop allowed students to engage with the speakers, ask questions, and participate in discussions. This interactive format ensured that students could receive personalized feedback and practical advice tailored to their individual career aspirations.

Overall, the one-day career guidance workshop was a resounding success, attended by about 200 students from different colleges and several faculty members. It provided a valuable platform for students to gain insights into the legal profession, develop essential skills, and prepare for their future careers. The workshop underscored Vidyavardhaka Law College's commitment to fostering the professional growth and development of students, ensuring they are well-equipped to face the challenges of the legal job market.

INAUGURATION

The event was graced by the presence of Hon'ble Sri Ravindra Hegde, Principal District and Sessions Judge of Mysore, who was invited as the chief guest to inaugurate the workshop.

The ceremony commenced with a warm welcome by Dr P Deepu, principal vidyavardhaka law college, setting a tone of enthusiasm and eagerness for the day's proceedings. Judge Ravindra Hegde, in his inaugural address, emphasized the critical importance of career guidance for law students standing at the threshold of their professional journeys. He highlighted the diverse opportunities available within the legal profession and underscored the significance of making informed career choices.

Judge Hegde shared his insights on the evolving legal landscape and the various sectors within it, such as judicial services, private practice, corporate law, and public sector roles. His personal anecdotes and professional experiences served as a source of inspiration for the students, illustrating the potential paths they could pursue with dedication and hard work. He encouraged the students to stay committed to their goals and to continuously seek growth and development in their chosen fields.

Following Judge Hegde's address, the presidential speech was delivered by Gundappa Gowda Sir. In his address, Sir reaffirmed the college's unwavering commitment to student development. He spoke about the institution's efforts in organizing such workshops to bridge the gap between academic learning and professional practice. He emphasized the importance of workshops like these in equipping students with the necessary skills and knowledge to excel in their careers.

The inauguration also featured a vote of thanks by Dr. Prakruthi, Asst. Professor, VVLC who expressed heartfelt gratitude to the chief guest, speakers, organizers, and participants. She highlighted the collaborative effort that went into making the event possible and thanked everyone for their valuable contributions. Her vote of thanks acknowledged the pivotal role of such events in enriching the educational experience of the students.

The inaugural session set a positive and motivational tone for the rest of the workshop. It was not only informative but also inspiring, as it encouraged students to take proactive steps towards their career development. The insights and encouragement provided by the dignitaries were well-received by the students.

Overall, the inauguration of the career guidance workshop was a resounding success. It effectively highlighted the importance of career planning and professional growth, and it served as a perfect kickoff for a day filled with valuable learning and development opportunities.

TECHNICAL SESSION 1

Topic: Career Opportunities in Law

The first technical session of the career guidance workshop at Vidyavardhaka Law College, held from 11:00 AM to 12:30 PM, focused on "Career Opportunities in Law" and was led by Dr. K. B. Kempegowda, Principal of Vivekananda Law College, Bengaluru. The session was moderated by Sri Ningegowda H.C., Assistant Professor at VVLC Mysore.

Dr. Kempegowda began his address by acknowledging the traditional pathways in law practice, which most students are already familiar with. Instead, he chose to delve into less conventional yet increasingly significant career avenues. He emphasized the importance of exploring opportunities beyond traditional law practice and highlighted the role of in-house chambers, specifically corporate lawyers. He underscored the need for students to have a foundational understanding of various legal topics (10% knowledge) while relying predominantly on common sense and practical wisdom (90%) in their legal careers.

Dr. Kempegowda advised students to excel in one particular area of law, suggesting that specialization can significantly enhance their career prospects. He encouraged students to pursue additional qualifications, such as certificate courses in cyber law forensics, banking, housing finance, mediation, and arbitration. He expanded on the relevance of legal expertise in the software industry, pointing out roles in HR management, auditing, legal cells, taxation, and accounting. Dr. Kempegowda stressed the importance of adapting to contemporary job markets and highlighted emerging roles for law graduates, such as legal and investigative journalism, positions within NGOs, law clerkships, and work in Legal Process Outsourcing (LPO).

Additionally, he encouraged students interested in criminology to read Sutherland's book on criminology, recognizing the significance of this field in modern legal practice. Dr. Kempegowda also discussed various other roles, including administrative law officers, intellectual property rights (IPR) specialists, public prosecutors (PP), judicial officers, and para-legal positions.

Throughout the session, he emphasized the importance of staying informed about current trends and developments in the legal profession. He urged students to continuously seek knowledge and skills that would set them apart in a competitive job market. His practical advice and insights provided the students with a broader perspective on the diverse career opportunities available to law graduates today. The insights shared during this session were invaluable, providing students with a roadmap for exploring and pursuing varied and rewarding career paths in law.

TECHNICAL SESSION 2

Topic: Personality Development for Young Minds

The second technical session of the career guidance workshop at Vidyavardhaka Law College, held from 1:15 PM to 2:45 PM, focused on "Personality Development for Young Minds" and was conducted by Prof. D. Anand, a professor at the BN Bahadur Institute of Management Sciences, Manasagangotri, Mysore. The session was moderated by Sri Mohan Kumar N, Assistant Professor at VVLC, Mysore.

Prof. Anand commenced his session with an engaging story from "Vaddaradhane" by Shivakoticharya, noted as the earliest extant prose work in Kannada. This story served as a prelude to his discussion on personality development, emphasizing the cultural and historical depth of the concept.

He explained that the word "personality" is derived from the Greek word "personare," which means "outfit" or "mask." Prof. Anand highlighted that personality development is a lifelong process, involving an amalgam of physical and psychological characteristics. He elaborated that these psychological characteristics include perception, attitude, values, learning, and motivation, and he provided detailed explanations for each. He emphasized the holistic nature of personality, which encompasses both physical attributes and psychological traits. He stressed that developing a balanced personality involves cultivating positive attitudes, strong values, and continuous learning and motivation. One of the key quotes he used to illustrate his point was "Kind heart behind bloody hands," emphasizing the complexity and depth of human character. He also quoted Abraham Lincoln, stating, "Have pride in your own deeds even if the world calls you mad," to inspire students to maintain self-belief and integrity despite external judgments. Before delving into these core aspects of personality development, he gave a brief introduction about active and passive listening. He highlighted the importance of active listening as a crucial skill in personal and professional development, contrasting it with passive listening to underscore its value.

The session was highly interactive, allowing students to engage with him and delve deeper into the concepts he presented. The interactive format encouraged students to share their thoughts and experiences, making the session dynamic and participatory. His session provided valuable insights into the importance of personality development for young minds, stressing that it is a continuous journey of growth and improvement. His use of historical anecdotes, inspirational quotes, and practical advice resonated with the students, leaving a lasting impact on their approach to personal and professional growth. The session concluded with a lively Q&A segment, where students posed questions and received personalized feedback from Prof. Anand. His practical tips and profound insights equipped the students with a better understanding of personality development and its significance in achieving success in their careers and personal lives.

VALEDICTORY

The one-day career guidance workshop at Vidyavardhaka Law College concluded with a valedictory session from 3:00 PM to 3:30 PM, presided over and addressed by Er. Shivalingaiah S, Chairman of CMC, VVLC Mysore. Er. Shivalingaiah began by commending the efforts of organizers, speakers, and participants, emphasizing the importance of career guidance and personality development in shaping the future of law graduates. He reflected on the key topics discussed throughout the day and encouraged students to apply the insights gained to their professional journeys with dedication and integrity.

He also highlighted the evolving landscape of the legal profession and the importance of specialization and continuous learning. Er. Shivalingaiah expressed his gratitude to all guest speakers, faculty members, and students for their active participation.

The session concluded with distributing certificates to participants from various law colleges, recognizing their engagement and contribution to the workshop. This gesture marked a fitting end to a day of learning and inspiration, leaving students motivated to pursue their career goals with renewed enthusiasm.
